A Million More Cars. Talking to 70,000,000. Changeable Chinese. The Continents Slip.

—By Arthur Brisbane—

IN HIS ACCEPTANCE speech, Mr. Hoover emphasized, among national blessings, the building of 14,000,000 new automobiles in the last seven years.

Mr. Sloane, president of General Motors, announces an addition to our motor millions. In a few days, the Chevrolet Company will turn out its one millionth car built thus far in 1928. Mr. Knudsen, head of Chevrolet, who was once with Ford, is a real "production man."

When Governor Smith talks to the American radio audience next Wednesday night, 70,000,000 will be able to hear his voice.

Within one hour, a public man can address practically the entire population of the United States. All will hear him distinctly, and listeners 1000 miles away will hear his words before they are heard by men 100 yards away, in the crowd around him, because electricity travels more quickly than sound.

What do ancient miracles amount to, compared with miracles of science?

Missionaries devoting their life to converting Chinese will be interested in the story of Field Marshal Feng Hu-hsiang, hitherto known as "The Christian General."

A Christian no longer, his story runs as follows:

As a boy he saw his father, a poor peasant, worshipping Buddhist idols. He believed in Buddha, but when his mother died, in spite of prayers to Buddha, he dropped that god and his idols.

It is only fair to add that Buddha would not recognize his own religion, in China, any more than the founder of Christianity would recognize his religion in some of our fancy churches.

For a while Marshal Feng worshipped snakes, but outgrew that and became a Christian. Then he went to Moscow, saw brotherly love in the communistic doctrines, dropped Christianity and became a communist.

Returning to China, he joined the Kuomintang party, adopted the three principles of the late Dr. Sun Yat Sen, first president of the Chinese republic. Those three principles supply all the religion he needs.

A pious missionary cannot be sure that a converted Chinese will stay saved. But that is no reason for discouragement.

When, and if, Feng wakes up in hell, some day, with Sun Yat Sen on one side of him and Confucius on the other, he will wish he had stayed Christian.

Princeton's scientific expedition to Patagonia, after 25 years of careful study, reports that South America and Africa were once united.

German scientists reached the same conclusion several years ago.

The earth's surface is light, compared with the earth core on which it rests. And the earth surface, the continents that support us, slide around on the hard earth core like butter on a hot plate.

The slipping movement is slow, however, and you need not worry about your real estate. Some day it will not be where it is now, but that day is far off.

The learned Professor Esau of Jena University finds that ultra-short radio waves can be useful in medicine.

He inoculated 30 mice with tuberculosis, treated 15 of them with ultra-short waves. The 15 thus treated throve and lived. The 15 mice not treated died quickly.

MONK READY TO MEET ALL COMERS IN FIGHT ON AUTO INSURANCE

Governor Fuller today grilled Insurance Commissioner Wesley E. Monk about the proposed big boost in compulsory auto insurance rates and ordered him to "look out for the public interest" above every other consideration.

Prior to his visit to the Governor's private office at the State House, Commissioner Monk hotly defended his position, indicating that he does not intend to back down from his proposal for huge increases.

"I am no crook, nor am I an emissary of the insurance companies, and whoever imputes my honesty will have to answer to me in court," he said.

Letters of protest from scores of citizens began arriving at Monk's office, even before he was there himself, and many of these, vigorously worded, were from prominent business and professional men and holders of public offices.

Governor Fuller, explaining the purpose of calling in Commissioner Monk for questioning, said he had no intention of threatening him with removal from office, adding that he considered him "a very fine comissioner."

"I want to tell him to look out for the public interest," said the governor. "I want him to go into the

TOM MIX KICKED THEM, SAY ACTOR AND WIFE

Los Angeles, Aug. 20—Will Morrisey and his wife, Middie Miller, stage players, were bandaged and bruised today.

They attributed their condition to Tom Mix, film actor. At his home Mix admitted that a "misunderstanding" had occurred at a party at the Playa Del Rey home of George Beban the actor. The versions differ.

Morrisey and his wife went to the Venice police station early Sunday seeking medical attention. They were given it and placed under arrest on intoxication charges, being released later on $20 bail.

Morrissey said that he and the "Western" star had been exchanging pleasantries, one of the Morrisey quips being that "Tom's horse Tony had a great future in the

1 HURT AT BEACH FIRE

One woman is near death and six others had narrow escapes when fire swept the Crescent Garden, a dining and dance hall, at Nantasket early today.

Jack Eastman, proprietor of the garden, his wife, three children, his mother and a brother, Edward, were trapped in an upper story of the building, when the flames broke out. They fought their way through smoke-filled halls to a rear stairway.

Eastman, in the excitement of the moment, endeavored to hurry his mother down the stairway. She fell and was badly injured and is now at the Sturgis Hospital in Nantasket.

Just opposite the scene of the fire is the Sagamore Hill section of Nantasket. The cottages on this hill are occupied mainly by wealthy Bostonians and when the falling walls of the burning building sent a shower of sparks and burning embers

Retired Undefeated World's Heavyweight Champion

CHAPTER I

I AM told it is unusual for a person to sit down at the age of 30 to write his autobiography.

As a rule this work is reserved for the last score of one's allotted three score years and ten. At that time there is a mellowness to one's viewpoint as he gazes back over the years of his life and sets his mind and memory to work. It is with some effort that he recalls his infancy, boyhood, youth.

Incidents that were deeply impressed upon his memory flash across his mind. Schooldays are lived again, family, friends, localities, all are reconstructed in his mind's eye to furnish him the facts of his life.

Later years lived in the workaday world are more easily scanned. They are still fresh in his memory. At last he has his

250 SOLDIERS ABOARD SHIP CALLING FOR AID NEAR HARBOR ISLAND

The U. S. S. Hermna C. Schumm, army mine layer, carrying 250 soldiers from Fort Standish, bound for Fort Strong in Boston harbor, sent out an S. O. S. today, reporting her boilers disabled and that she was drifting towards the rocks off Lovell's Light.

The U. S. S. Gen. A. L. Batchelder and several Coast Guard boats were dispatched to her assistance.

The Schumm, a former transport, joined the junior mine-laying fleet in Boston harbor only last Friday after being recommissioned at Fort Wright, N. Y.

The soldiers boarded her at Fort Standish for transportation to Fort Strong, where target practice is to begin Wednesday.

GOEBEL SHATTERS U. S. OVERLAND AIR RECORD

Curtiss Field, N. Y., Aug. 20 (AP)—Art Goebel and Harry Tucker landed here at 11:26 o'clock this morning after a non-stop flight from Mines Field, Los Angeles, Cal., which broke the existing record by almost eight hours.

Goebel's first act as he stepped from the plane, which was the first to make the transcontinental non-stop flight from west to east, was to glance at his watch.

"Eighteen hours and 58 minutes," he exclaimed.

The record for the transcontinental flight, made in the opposite direction, was 26 hours, 50 minutes, 48 seconds, set by Lieut. John A. MacReady and Oakley Kelly in 1923.

Goebel stumbled from the stiffness induced by the long flight, as he stepped out of the plane. He recovered himself quickly, however, and said that he was not tired.

Atty. William R. Scharton's bill seeking an injunction to end the blockade of troopers and police was likewise continued for a week.

Both continuances were caused by Scharton's application for a writ of prohibition to prevent superior court judges hearing the padlock proceedings. This application will be argued Wednesday before a single justice of the Supreme Court.

Bert Hassell

BELIEVES HASSELL IS SAFE

Mrs. Bert Hassell and her three children, Johnny, 5, Victor, 3, and Rosalie, one year old, are shown in their home in Rockford, Ill.

SOUGHT NEW AIR TRAIL

Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer hoped to prove that their route over the top of the world was the safest across the Atlantic.

WHEN HASSELL'S PLANE WAS NEARLY WRECKED IN FIRST TAKEOFF

On their first attempt, Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer narrowly escaped death when their plane crashed in a cornfield within fifteen minutes after a takeoff at Rockford, Ill. Repairs were made and the fliers hopped off with a much lighter supply of gasoline. They reached Cochrane, Ont., and started for Greenland.

EVERETT WIFE IS WINNER IN JIGGS RECIPE CONTEST

"More corned beef and cabbage and less can-openers and delicatessens."

Mrs. Emma M. Turner, of 17 Mohan st., Everett, who has every qualification for discussing cookery, is spending time in the unenviable selection of famous chefs for first prize, in the Boston Evening American Jiggs Corned Beef and Cabbage Contest.

She will receive a Tiffany sterling silver three-piece carving set and a Tiffany plate carving platter.

Does Mrs. Turner know how to cook corned beef and cabbage? She certainly can.

Mrs. Turner demonstrated her culinary ability to a Boston Evening American reporter and cameraman.

"This is not the place," the photographer said, testily, in the heat of the afternoon, on arrival at the home of Mrs. Turner. The only thing I can smell here is flowers. Corned beef and cabbage is not being cooked in this vicinity.

A smiling woman in white was soon framed in the screen door and big welcome.

"This is the right place," she laughed, "only sometime have odors when cooking corned beef and cabbage. That's one of the secrets. If you keep the corned beef completely covered with water during cooking there will be no smells.

Then to an immaculate kitchen where a large bottle was being raised by flame from a gas-range.

"There ain't a half pounds of meat in cooking in there," she informed us, "and that is a 12-quart kettle, nearly three-quarters full.

"Any salt meat, if kept covered, will give no odor.

"My first experience with cooking was a complete flop," she laughed. "Mother went out one day and I tried to make doughnuts. They grew to be as big as automobile tires. I buried them with the bird under the house.

"A few years later tall weeds sprung up. Pans round the ground and found the doughnuts still there, but with long sprouts like hair.

Mrs. Turner followed all the detail set forth in her recipe in preparing the rest of the dinner, after which the meal was served.

"I am more than happy to know that I won the contest." Mrs. Turner stated. "It is the way I have been cooking corned beef and cabbage for—well, a whole lot of years."

What I Think of Maggie and Jiggs

I think Maggie and Jiggs are just an original couple that are so true to life that they really are interesting. I am sure that somewhere there must exist a real Jiggs and Maggie, and I would be a very happy woman to be able to cook for Jiggs one of my boiled dinners. I am sure he would give me one of his delightful smiles, and run that thin tongue of his around his lips in silent tribute.

Jiggs is like most men—he likes good food. While Maggie—poor Maggie—I like her, too. She works so hard to satisfy her vanity. I love to see her trying to enjoy herself in society. She is always in trouble.

I like all their quarrels. They are so different from most quarrels married people have that I can really enjoy them. I always like to think that perhaps tomorrow they may be on more friendly terms.

I love the expressions on their faces, too. I really think there is no comic in any paper with such funny and original faces.

Others may come and go, but you can always depend on Jiggs and Maggie to give you a strip of real clean amusement, of which you never tire.—Letter of Mrs. Emma M. Turner, 17 Mohan st., Everett, winner of Jiggs corned beef and cabbage contest.

and will eventually go before the full bench and the United States Supreme Court in a test of constitutionality, Scharton plans.

Court was crowded with Boston hotel men, lawyers and Brickbottom residents before temporary dissolution of the cases were made. Boswell was armed with affidavits by one of his assistants and two Somerville policemen while Scharton read counter affidavits sworn to by owners of property which the district attorney seeks to close.

Judge Cox said he would take no further action on either complaint until decision on the application for a writ of prohibition had been made.

Body Recovered

The body of Loreta Cetrone, 31, 26 Foster st., Brighton, was recovered from the water on the south side of Castle Island by the crew of the police boat Watchman.

Cetrone's body was attired in a bathing suit she was dressed last Wednesday night at City Point.

Here Is the Winning Recipe in Jiggs' Cooking Contest

By MRS. EMMA M. TURNER

Procure from your market three pounds of the thick end of brisket beef that has been corned four days, and four pounds of cabbage, new or old. Wash beef and put in kettle with enough water to cover well. Let come to a boil and cook slowly for two and a half hours.

Now prepare your cabbage. Cut off all outside leaves that appear to be old and hard. Cut in quarters and trim the hard center out. Put in pan of cold water and let stand until ready to cook.

Wash and peel six good-sized potatoes, and put in cold water.

After beef has cooked for two and one-half hours, add cabbage and potatoes and let cook one-half hour more or until potatoes are cooked, as cabbage will cook in the same time as the potatoes.

FIRE IN SOUTHBORO PROBED BY POLICE

Southboro, Aug. 20—A fire believed by the police to have been of incendiary origin, destroyed a large barn, 40 tons of hay and eight head of cattle on the Andrew Fitzgerald estate, Newton at. and Framingham rd. GOEBEL BREAKS AIR RECORD

"More hungry than anything else," he said.

He watched his plane, the "Yankee Doodle," until it was safely lodged in a hangar, unspotted by oil or grime despite the distance it had covered. Then he turned to greet the small group that had collected at the field to await his arrival.

Harry Tucker of Santa Monica, Cal., companion and backer of Goebel on the flight, said he had financed the plane's arrival above Curtiss Field at 11:03, eastern daylight time. The monoplane made a few circles of the field before landing at 11:22.

Goebe said he had flown at altitudes of from 8,000 to 10,000 feet all the way with favorable winds. The plane passed over Albuquerque, N. M.; Wichita, Kan.; St. Louis, Mo., and Columbus, O., soaring above the latter city at dawn today.

"Good morning, Frank," said Goebel, smiling to Frank R. Tichenor, editor of Aero Digest, who hurried to the side of the plane as it taxied to rest.

The Yankee Doodle had an average of exactly 100 miles an hour since it left Los Angeles, news of his arrival.

The fastest previous time for a transcontinental flight was 21 hours and 48 minutes made by Lieut. Russell L. Maughan in 1924. That was not a non-stop flight. Maughan's route was from New York to San Francisco and five stops were made en route for refueling.

FEAR ROCKFORD PLANE LOST

Chicago, Aug. 20 (INS)—No word had been received early today from Bert Hassel's plane, the Greater Rockford many hours overdue at Mt. Evans, Greenland, on a proposed flight to Stockholm from Rockford, Ill.

The last signals believed to have been sent from the plane were picked up by stations in Chicago at 3 a. m. Sunday, but were very weak.

Hassell, accompanied by Parker Cramer, took off from Cochrane, Ont., at 1:12 p. m. (Boston daylight saving time) Sunday on the 1600-mile hop to Mt. Evans. The plane had arrived at Cochrane last Thursday from Rockford, Ill.

The fliers had planned to reach Stockholm in three hops, the third one taking them from Mt. Evans to the Swedish capital.

Computed by the time made by the Greater Rockford Saturday when signals were received regularly, it was estimated the plane should have reached Mt. Evans at 10 a. m. yesterday. The last heard from the plane gave its position as 75 miles from Cape Chidley with 400 miles still to go over Davis Strait to Mt. Evans.

The Rockford Chamber of Commerce received a radio from Elmer Kiss, a mechanic who was sent to Mt. Evans to await the plane. The message read:

"No sign of Hassell yet. Long overdue."

Residents of Rockford, some of whom financed the flight, expressed confidence in the ability of Hassell today. They hoped the fliers made a landing in Greenland.

Mrs. Hassell, after spending a sleepless night, today reiterated her belief that her husband would complete his flight successfully.

Danish Expert Warned Hassell to Delay Hop

Copenhagen, Aug. 20 (INS)—Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer started their flight to Greenland against the advice of Danish polar experts, it was revealed today by Helge Rasgard, who has just returned from Greenland, where he arranged for the landing and refueling of the Hassell airplane. He said today:

"I called Hassell that he had better wait until spring for the flight as landing and restarting in Greenland would be very difficult. I am astonished that he started at this time of year."

Rasgard said that he had arranged three landing places at Stromfjord 1700, 400 and 1500 feet long, but only 50 feet wide. They are surrounded with high rocks and sandbanks. A big risk would be encountered in taking off with a heavily laden airplane from these runways, Rasgard said, because they were not perfectly flat and could not be improved until spring.

BODY OF HEAT VICTIM IS STILL UNIDENTIFIED

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 20—The unidentified man who died on the sands at Jenness Beach, Rye, last Monday from a heart attack induced by the heat, still remains unclaimed in a local undertaking parlor. While the authorities are of the belief that the man may be a resident of Warren, this State, they have been unable to get in touch with any relatives as yet to obtain a positive identification.

Mix gave the following version.

"That fellow had been abusive all evening. I'd only met him once before and I kept out of his way but when the party broke up and I was standing on the porch landing, waiting for my machine, he came up and swung at me two or three times.

"I just shoved him away and walked down the stairs as my car came up. He ran down the stairs after me, calling me a lot of vile names and struck me. He had his coat off. I hit him two or three times and he went down.

"Some woman grabbed me from behind and I just shook her off. I didn't strike her and I certainly didn't kick anyone."

SECRET FOR 20 YEARS BRINGS NO RICHES

The kind of rare woman who can keep a secret, not only the secret for 20 years but two days in addition, is Mrs. E. Lalwenseek of 37 Haskins st., Roxbury.

And she kept it, even though the man who imposed the strange condition when he presented her with a Russian rouble on Aug. 18, 1908, was Czar Nicholas of Russia, who has since died.

According to Mrs. Lalwenseek, the Czar promised that if she produced the rouble 20 years later and would swear that she had told nobody of the gift, he would make her rich.

On Aug. 18, 1908, while Mrs. Lalweneek, then Miss E. Levet, was tending sheep on a farm in what was then Kurfed, a part of Russia, but which is now Latvia, the Czar, the Czarina and two of their children and several retainers, drove along in a large carriage drawn by six horses.

Attracted by the profusion of flowers blooming on the slope, the party stopped and began to pick them.

The Czarina encountered thistles and a number of burrs clung to her stockings. The curious shepherdess, watching the party from afar, was startled when she was hailed and called by one of the retainers.

When she approached, the Czar asked if she would pick the burrs of the Czarina's hosiery.

Then Nicholas presented the girl with the rouble, dated 1899, and imposed the condition of silence upon her, smiling as he did so.

Mrs. Lalweneek, who came to America in 1914, forgot the rouble after Nicholas' death and has only came upon it again—now when the 20-year period has elapsed.

NEW TERMINAL RANKS BEST IN WORLD

Passenger facilities of the Boston & Maine's new North Station were unofficially opened this morning by the U. S. Navy.

Bernard J. Taylor, machinist's mate, U. S. N., bought the first ticket when the first ticket window in the new station was opened by Clarence L. Tower of 29 Adams ave., Saugus, veteran ticket seller. Taylor purchased ticket No. 0, to Portland, Me., taking the 4:45 (e.s.t.) for Portland. He had intended to take the later train but fell asleep in one of the comfortable new station seats and missed it. His home is at 6 Brown st., Worcester.

The next three tickets were also purchased by naval men, and the first person to patronize the new parcel checkroom on the concourse was Miss Lena Marquis of East Providence, R. I., who claimed a suitcase and took an early train to Pumney, N. H.

The first train in was from Reading, arriving at 4:55 (D.S.T.), and the first man through the waiting room inbound refused to give his name as he dashed for a taxi.

Wilfred E. Smith of 29 Rock Valley ave., Everett, proprietor of a causeway st. drugstore, received the first shave in the new barber shop on the mezzanine floor. He was shaved by Thomas F. Tremble, shop proprietor, who has been barber and boss barber 38 years at the North Station.

All day crowds of commuters flocked into the waiting room of the new station, expressing their admiration at its space and architectural features, and the rapidity with which the work was done while train service continued uninterrupted.

10,000,000 BEASTS IN BIG 'STAMPEDE'

Nairobi, Kenya, East Africa, Aug. 20 (AP)—A remarkable migration of game in the Tanganyika territory is reported by Carveth Wells of the Milwaukee Museum-Chicago Geographic Society expedition, the report being made from the party's first headquarters in the Tanganyika territory, where they arrived on July 23.

Martin Johnson, noted animal photographer, who is in the same district with Wells, estimated that about 10,000,000 head of game are migrating across the country in a solid mass ten miles wide and thirty miles long at one spot.

Zebras were stated to be leading the way in a mass ten miles wide and five miles deep followed by miles of gnus and other animals.

The explorer's camp at the time reported was situated in lonuitude 35 east and about 2 degrees south of the equator.

Wells reported that despite this equatorial location, the air was so cold he had to sleep in a sleeping bag and wear a thick overcoat and sweater while he would have been very thankful for a hot water bottle at nights.

The party had several experiences with animals en route, particularly with one group of eight lions. The beasts were curious about the car in which Wells was riding, coming to within 15 yards of it and finally moving away.

GIRLS SEE FILM ON MAKING OF NEWSPAPER

One hundred Camp Fire Girls visited Loew's State Theater, as special guests of the Boston Evening American to see the two-reel educational film today, "The Making of a Newspaper."

These girls were the first delegation of 18 leading civic organizations, whose officials have accepted invitations to witness the absorbing and thrilling picture. They were present under the leadership of Miss Lotta Clark, Greater Boston director of the organization, and Miss Margaret Thomasama.

Nat only did the Campfire Girls see the instructive film showing just how a newspaper is made, but they remained for the rest of the regular bill, including the feature picture, "Forbidden Hours," in which Ramon Novarro and Renee Adoree play the leading roles, an "Our Gang" comedy entitled "Crazy House," and a snappy stage show which embraces Fred Rich and his Hotel Astor Orchestra and Edward Sheriff and company, a high grade acrobatic act.

Tomorrow afternoon 100 members of The Durant, Inc., a leading woman's club and 250 members of the Women's City Club of Boston, will be special guests of this newspaper at the theater to view the film.

GOOD RACING MARKS SHOW AT COHASSET

By THOMAS FAY WALSH.

The 1928 Cohasset Horse Show is now but a memory, although effects of some of the young jumping riders to see whether they would bounce like rubber balls when they hit the ground came near making it a bad memory, and certainly gave the spectators a few uneasy moments.

Young Hugh Bancroft, still done up in plasters from "coming a cropper" at Topsfield last week, had a bad fall which knocked him unconscious. Being a strong healthy youngster he quickly came to and insisted on continuing riding in all the jumping classes.

Miss Alice Stewart took a nasty toss off Blue Fern, and Miss Lorraine Liggett gave a very clever exhibition of how to get off a galloping animal, land on your feet and still keep the reins when her horse ran off the course and up a hill with her.

Mrs. Homer Loring and her young daughter cleaned up the most difficult class of the show Saturday, that for park hacks, with the thoroughbred mare "Vanity." They won the road exhibition also.

A new exhibitor, but with one of the strongest stables out, is Mr. H. Hatton Crowell, in his string are the "Whippet" and "Fourth Estate," two sensational jumpers. Mr. Crowell always rides the latter himself.

The "Whippet" won the lightweight class, and the touch-and-out, the most difficult and chancy class in the hunting division, with Malley riding. Chanley won the heavyweight class, and leading his hunt team himself through the field over the trying course, Mr. Crowell received the red in this class.

Miss Virginia Tolman's "Dorothy Stone" was the outstanding saddle winner, a beautiful bay mare, this little girl showed her splendidly.

DOG BITES 5 IN REVERE

Five persons, including two children, were bitten by a collie puppy in Revere today, the dog eventually being captured and subdued in the home of its mistress, Mrs. Margaret Robson, 61 Glendale st., one of the victims.

Those bitten are Leo Kennedy Lavery, 3, 55 Woodland rd., and Mary Leonard, 5, 57 Glendale st., Mrs. Robson, Motorcycle Officer Daniel Sweeney and the new dog catcher of Revere, Wilbur Cutler.

The dog, said to be only 7 months old, first attacked the Lavery boy, fastened its teeth in the flesh around the child's eye and bit him in the hand.

The boy's screams brought neighbors. Police were notified, Sweeney hurried to the scene. The dog had run to Glendale st., where it bit Mary Leonard on the face. The animal was pursued by the policeman on his motorcycle "... one Point of Pines, then ... and back to Glendale ... and into the home of its mistress.

Sweeney rode into one end of the street as Cutler, appeared at the other.

Sweeney entered the front door and Cutler the rear, as Mrs. Robson screamed when the animal snapped at her ankle. The dog leaped at Sweeney, biting his left leg and hand. Cutler appeared with ropes and was bitten on two fingers before the dog was tied up and taken out. In the dog catcher's auto it was taken to the pound on Revere Beach Parkway for execution.

1200 BRITISH MINERS ARRIVE IN CANADA

Quebec, Que., Aug. 20 (AP)—Twelve hundred British miners who are seeking relief from unemployment in Great Britain passed through Quebec over the week-end en route to the harvest fields of western Canada. Approximately 80 per cent of the men were former service men. They came to Canada under the British Government plan to work unemployed miners with work in the fields of Canada.

SOCIETY FLOCKS TO U. S., SAYS BETTY ALDEN

Incoming Liners Bringing Back Travelers Who Went Abroad Earlier in Year; Schoolboy Contingent Aboard Returning S. S. France

THE SWIFT AND HAUGHTY OCEAN GRAYHOUNDS that carried plutocratic nomads to Europe early in the summer now turn about with their interestingly crowded "lists" and bring some of these wanderers home again. The France, arriving tomorrow or next day in New York will set ashore schoolboys home from a summer amid old world antiquities; saunterers along sweet honeymoon trails, and certain earnest souls whose foreign travels had to do more with missions, congresses and such sober duties than with continental warm weather frivolities.

THE ARTHUR W. HARTTS BELONG IN the last mentioned category, they having gone abroad principally that Mrs. Hartt might represent her beloved girl scouts at a foreign conference of the movement. Malcolm S. MacKay, Jr., a Berkshire School student, and son of the MacKays of New York and Montana, belongs in the schoolboy coterie while the James Jacksons, Jr., loom interestingly important in the honeymoon lisiting. There will be a fanfare of the gilded social trumpets when these young people descend the gangplank.

THE NEW MRS. JACKSON, JR., SAILED merrily through Gotham's social rapids as Miss Sally Pratt, charming and popular daughter of Mrs. John T. Pratt of the Big City and Glen Cove. Preferment in fashion's innermost circles and all that wealth and family prestige confer are hers. She moves with Gotham's highest, just as does Mr. Jackson in the most exalted set Boston boasts. There's almost no family in Boston's Mayfair whose blood is azure hued (according to Massachusetts standards) to which the Jacksons are not linked either by ties of kin or friendship.

HAD IT NOT BEEN FOR A FAMILY BEREAVEMENT, the Jackson-Pratt nuptials would have been brilliantly done, with all the music, candles, pre-nuptial frivolities and swagger so important an alliance almost necessitates, in this day of elaborate ceremonial. As it was, the knot was tied with simplicity, prettily but sans churchly detail, at the Pratt own house in New York. The lune de miel has been a leisurely wandering over the face of the earth, particularly the portion thereof pertaining to the Old World. And as I say, the welcome home will be warmly enthusiastic.

ANOTHER SOCIETY GIRL GOES IN FOR A career. And such a career, involving a stupendous amount of work and study. Miss Sally Bowditch, brainy and attractive daughter of Mrs. Ernest Bowditch, betakes herself to Johns Hopkins University, when autumn comes, there to pursue the course that will affix after her name certain letters denoting doctor of this and master of that. Not for very long did Miss Bowditch flutter her wings, methilks, in the social flames. Of course she came out, with the eclat necessary for a girl of her connections and place in the fashionable scheme.

AND, OF COURSE, LIKE every other debutante rightly engineered by fond friends and doting relatives, she tarried awhile with utmost gayety in the butterfly paths of a first winter. But with a girl of Miss Bowditch's gifts and personality mere frivolities do not for long remain supremely interesting. So many girls go in for careers there's really no surprise in the fact that another chooses a life work. But so few of the gentler sex have so vaulting an ambition as has Miss Bowditch. The family home is "Eastover," out in Milton, town of aristocratic leanings and entirely lacking in ostentation.

SOUTH SHORE TIMBER toppers doing the horse show rounds now move luxuriously on from Cohasset to North Scituate, there to perform prettily tomorrow, to their own aggrandizement, and to put some very necessary and welcome dollars into the Children's Sunlight Hospital coffers. A glance at the entry list for the North Scituate Show indicates that blue ribbonners of the Bancroft, Gagnebin, Liggett, Kempton, Loring, Peabody, Cronon, James, Paul, Tolman and Lund stamp are to be on hand. And as at its predecessor by so very few days, the Cohasset Show, the juvenile are the great center of interest at Scituate.

FIRST BUGLE FOR THE Show will sound at 9:30 and the management proposes to move through its schedule with such regularity as to bring the last class into the ring in plenty of time so that exhibitors, gallery and riders may all move on unhurried to the various dinners planned as finale to the day. The entry list runs into numbers, showing that the South Shore is keenly alert to horse show possibilities, when benefits are in order, also that bolstering the younger generation into the saddle very early in life is become a South Shore as well as a North Shore habit.

SPEAKING OF VAULTING ambitions, Leighton Rollins cherishes some of the most altitudinous I've heard about in some time. Of course they have to do with his pet interest, the little theater, and they follow most naturally in the wake of his initial efforts in that line, the "Try-Out" in Wellesley. Success, sometimes fickle, chose to smile on the "Try-Out." Artistic supremacy and good financial fortune were in attendance. And now, after Mr. Rollins completes a round of visits on Long Island, plans commence to swing into line for his next and most ambitious venture, of which more may be said anon.

MISS RUTH ELDER IS another bright young person now resting comfortably on laurels won in the "little theater" field, as a promoter in that movement. Miss Elder goes abroad for rest and recreation, after a most successful initial short season at the lovely little theater she and other members of her family are so keenly interested in, out in Winchester. That attractive small city now boasts a wonderfully attractive intimate theater, the like of which is not to be duplicated for full many a mile, save perhaps at Stillington, down in Gloucester.

Air Spill Made Fred Stone Into Just a Kid Again

New London, Ct., Aug. 20 (AP)—Yesterday was Fred Stone's birthday and the fact he is a patient in the Lawrence Memorial Hospital did not stop him from celebrating. According to the candles on the two birthday cakes which occupied a place of honor beside his bed, the comedian has reached the age of eight, but according to confidential information from his friends, it was really his fifty-fifth birthday.

Fred explained the four candles on each cake by saying he is growing younger. Next year he plans to have only seven candles.

As a tribute to Stone's youth, Rex Beach, the novelist, sent him a box of toys including a doll, a cloth cat and a company of lead soldiers. Fred commented on the absence of aviators among the lead soldiers and declared it must have been an oversight.

Charles Dillingham, the producer and Cynthia Fuley of Mr. Stone's company attended the little birthday party.

He was dumbfounded! To be cut dead like that by her—the one girl he cared for! Why had she done it?

He didn't know then—but that very evening an advertisement caught his eye. It told about "B.O." —Body Odor! It explained that no one is safe from this unpardonable fault; and that the offender seldom suspects he is guilty.

Perhaps that was it. He had noticed that lately many people looked at him queerly whenever he approached them. He was sure he had learned the secret.

MONK SCORED BY FULLER FOR AUTO INSURANCE BOOST PLAN

COMMISSIONER CALLED ON CARPET AT STATE HOUSE

figures very carefully with me. I want to see those figures submitted by the insurance companies analyzed the same as a bank president analyzes the figures of a fellow who wants a loan.

OPPOSED BY MANY.

"A great many people are opposing compulsory liability insurance on the ground that it does not prevent accidents. It was never designed to, but was instead intended to take care of persons injured and their dependents.

"Certain persons are evidently taking advantage of the law, and the situation is complicated by the fact that because a fellow gets into an accident he claims he has suffered injury to his neck when what he really wants is money to get a new mudguard.

"I shall emphasize to Mr. Monk not to forget the public interest, not to forget for whom he works. I have already done this with regard to other department heads, for example, the public utilities, where reduction in electric light rates followed. I would like to see gas remain at $1. too.

FIGURES TO BE ANALYZED

"Now, the insurance companies are doubtless plausible and persuasive. You can't expect them to ask for a reduction in rates. But their figures, their persuasive figures in support for a cry for increased rates, must be and are going to be analyzed.

"Yes, this looks like carpet day, doesn't it? There's Mr. Monk, and Montagu of the Licensing Board, Bates about the Bannon charges and public utilities about gas rates. Don't take me too seriously.

"One of the things the insurance commissioner needs is a larger working force, a large organization. He ought to have enough help to go out and look into these claims for himself.

"As for Registrar Parker's suggestion that rates be based on each driver's record, I think that is a move in the right direction and it appeals to me. It is not wise to condemn all drivers for the faults of a few. I am going to take this up with Commissioner Monk."

STOP CARELESS DRIVING.

Although the Governor declared the law was never intended to help prevent accidents, Commissioner Monk took a somewhat different stand. In his opinion drivers ought to make their own rates, and as they are careless the rates are bound to go up. This increase should automatically discourage careless driving, from his point of view.

"I am no crook, nor am I an emissary of the insurance companies," said the commissioner.

"I have been working five years without a vacation for pay much smaller than I got before I took this job.

"I am doing all I possibly can for the public, and I resent any insinuation that I am a tool of the insurance companies.

"I am ready to meet the Governor when he sends for me and ready to confront any mayors, any citizens and prove that I am honest and doing my work to the best of my ability."

"The great trouble is that most people have gone off half-cocked about this thing. Mayors make statements without knowing the facts. The newspapers publish statements without knowing the facts, presenting a few facts without discussing teh whole question fairly.

"I shall explain to the public in a full statement in September, when I recommend the new rates, just why any changes will occur.

"I heartily agree with the Governor when he says that the insurance commissioner should be the servant of the people. I have always tried to act in that capacity, and the servant should always be.

MUST TELL THE TRUTH.

"I have adjourning date here supporting my stand. If anybody wrongfully accuses me, he will have to answer in court.

"I don't mind criticism either as a public official or as an individual, if the criticism is based on truth, but I do not care to be condemned on exaggerated reports.

"I gave a full hearing on this matter, attended by upwards of 200 persons, and the statement that I gave out indicated the trend of the rates as a result of conditions.

"We have heard nothing from the zones being benefited by reduced rates or from the owners of trucks whose rates indicated a reduction or fro mthe owners of medium-priced and cheaper cars in the rural districts."

CAR OWNERS PROTEST

Indignant car owners and public officials continue to voice their denunciation of the proposed rates in the harshest terms while Gov. Fuller was widely praised for his stand.

Characterizing Commissioner Monk as "the mouthpiece of the insurance trust," John J. Murphy of Somerville, president of the National Association for State Automobile Insurance, scored the present system of compulsory insurance as "unjust, unwarranted and discriminatory exaction of exorbitant profits from the public."

In a letter to the Governor, Murphy wrote, in part:

"During a hearing at the ate House, Commissioner Monk made the statement that present rates were sufficiently high to meet all demands, and in his opinion rates would probably be reduced after being in operation for a year.

"I respectfully request that you take steps to relieve Commissioner Monk of the dictatorial authority with which he is now invested.

SALARIES UNBELIEVABLE

"The insurance companies are strongly entrenched, maintaining the most powerful lobby in the State House to exert pressure on representatives of the people.

"Investigation will show you that salaries paid to executives of these insurance companies are unbelievable.

"I shall be glad at any time to present to you statistics and information on a State fund, accumulated in a study of the matter covering a period of years."

In an interview Murphy said one insurance company president got $150,000 a year as salary while 14 vice-presidents of the same company received a total of $447,000.

"It has become a favorite practice of government officials, whenever money is needed for some purpose, to levy a special tax on automobiles or some necessary accessory to automobiles," he added.

WANTS UNIFORM FEE

"Our idea proposes a uniform fee throughout the state without regard to district, section or locality: a fee of $10 for every automobile without regard to type, horsepower or size, excepting taxicabs and busses which are to be assessed $50.

"Thus a state fund would be created, but there would be no new commission or any new political jobs for anyone. The motor vehicle registrar would supervise it. Not a dollar is appropriated by the state. The fund would be $5,000,000 annually and that should be more than enough to satisfy all judgments."

The Boston Central Labor Union is thoroughly opposed to the proposed rate boost as evidenced by a statement issued by H. P. Grass, secretary and business agent.

That statement issued by Commissioner Monk as a basis for his proposed increases were compiled by the Massachusetts Automobile Rating and Accident Prevention Bureau, an organization operated for the benefit of insurance companies, also admitted by William Constable, who said he had charge of this work.

WOMAN MAYOR NEAR DEATH ON BOAT

New York, Aug. 20 (INS)—Near disaster marked the arrival on the Leviathan today of "His Worship," the lord mayor of Southampton, England, Mrs. Lilcia Marian Foster-Welch, for an official visit to America.

Death under the whirling blades of the liner's propellers was averted early in a new fog, and the distinguished visitor and her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Marian Fulton, knew nothing of it until the danger was past.

The incident occurred after they had been transferred to the mammoth ship Macon. The Leviathan got under way to resume, and the 'Macon with was steered along the high steel wall of the ship, headed for the propellers.

Capt. George Sweeting of the Macon, his face white and tense, rushed to the engines in time to avert a tragedy by a matter of seconds. Through the fog moments of day, the ship had been plying, with the unfortunate ignorant that death hovered near.

Governor Whalen accompanied the guests to the Savoy Plaza Hotel. Mayor Walker was to spend three days with the City Hall. Tomorrow the woman mayor will go to Boston for a brief visit.

The Lord Mayor was resplendent in scarlet robes trimmed with mink, a velvet and chain bearing the keys of office and the coat of arms of her possessions are the chain about her neck, while the whole regalia lopped with a tricornered lower hat.

She is called "Mr. Mayor," not Mrs., and is addressed as "Sir," not "ma'am."

JOYCE TAKES THE RAP INSTEAD OF HIS WIFE

William Joyce of Dorchester ave., according to police testimony, endeavored to persuade his wife, mother of six children, to take the rap for him when his home was raided Saturday and liquor seized.

The mother declared she had tak on the blame for him twice previously and would go to jail this time, while Joyce kept his home for the fondant fathers. "Forty dollars and one month for you," Judge Logan sentenced in Joyce when the trial many was complete. And the jail sentence, which was not compulsory, was accepted meekly by Joyce.

Autoists Denounce Insurance Rates

"Highway robbry" and other strong phrases were used by automobile owners, picked out at random and representing the "average driver" of the state, in interviews today with an inquiring reported regarding the proposed huge increases in compulsory insurance rates.

THOMAS LUNAN, Chauncy st., salesman: The cost is sufficiently high now for the protection offered.

W. W. CHAPPLE, 133 Norwell ave., Dorchester, salesman: I can't afford to drive a car any longer if this zone theory goes through.

G. B. JIGGS, 97 Albany st., Dorchester: The State should take over insurance and make the rates and form. It's absurd to permit a man for living in the city. Both city and country dwellers use the same highways.

WESLEY GORMAN, 341 Main st., Stoneham, student: I think the rates are now altogether too high. There should be some uniformity in rate schedules.

H. L. BOWMAN, 1112 Commonwealth ave., Allston: It will boost my insurance rate from $71 to $93. The present insurance system is a farce. Rates should be boosted in eight districts as Chelsea where so many accidents occur.

FRANK W. MYERS, Evans way, Boston—The only way to lick these insurance companies is to get off the road and onto the water. Such an increase is preposterous. It will be a blow to the automobile industry in Massachusetts.

H. H. HALE, Plymouth rd., Newton Highlands, Wholesale Dry Goods—I now own five cars, but when insurance is going to cost me $400 a year, I prefer to walk.

W. L. SHEFFIELD, Fairmount ave., Hyde Park, collector—A man is just as dead when hit by a Ford as by a Packard. I can't see why there should be a sliding scale dependent on the size of the car.

E. K. ABBOTT, Bancroft ave., Reading, bank clerk—I cannot see how such a large increase, especially on smaller cars, may be justified unless it be that the insurance companies have been over liberal in the payment of petty claims. In any case, compulsory insurance should be under the direct supervision of the Commonwealth.

F. W. ASTON, Stellman rd., Roslindale, bank clerk—The State should take over automobile insurance along the lines followed in the workmen's compensation act. Such a procedure would insure nominal charges coupled with uniform rates.

HUERTA'S FRIENDS PLAN HIS RETURN TO MEXICO

Los Angeles, Aug. 20 (AP)—Adolfo de la Huerta, former provisional president of Mexico, declared today his return to Mexico, ending his political exile, depended upon the tone of a message which he awaits from friends in Mexico City.

"But as for being offered the provisional presidency, I have not thought of such a turn of events at this time," said De la Huerta. He said negotiations for his return to Mexico were being made by a group of his friends and friend of President Calles.

$220,000 NEEDED FOR "OLD IRONSIDES"

Less than $100,000 more is needed to complete rebuilding the United States frigate Constitution, Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, chairman of the committee in charge, reports that the work on "Old Ironsides," at the Charlestown navy yard, is almost half finished.

In making this announcement Admiral Andrews calls attention to the fact that today is the 131th anniversary of the famous battle in which "Old Ironsides" defeated the Guerriere, and established the United States as a sea power.

BLAME POULTRY MAN FOR BOMB EXPLOSION

New York, Aug. 20 (AP)—A live poultry "nurse" in Brooklyn today was held responsible for a bomb explosion that injured four persons and demolished the home of a poultry dealer. The bomb, placed outside the door of the home of Joseph Rosenfeld, shattered the glass in all the windows of the home and the buildings on either side. The poultry dealer, his wife, their daughter and their niece, were slightly injured. Handprints charged the "poultry fraud" was responsible.

SMITH'S REPLY TO WHITE OUT TOMORROW

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 20 (INS)—On the eve of the ceremony at which he will be formally notified of the Democratic presidential nomination, Governor Al Smith still lacks a statement tomorrow denouncing his critics for picturing him as a foe of good government.

The statement will be a direct answer to William Allen White, Kansas editor, who charged that the governor, when a member of the State Legislature 20 years ago, always voted to protect the saloon, gambling and vice.

Democratic leaders from all parts of the country are expected to begin arriving here tomorrow. By the time Governor Smith walks out on the east steps of the capitol Wednesday night at 7 o'clock to formally accept the nomination, it is expected 20,000 visitors will be in the city.

Albany is gaily decorated for the notification.

The notification meeting will be called to order by National Chairman Raskob at 7 o'clock (daylight saving time) and he will introduce Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, chairman of the notification committee.

Governor Smith is scheduled to begin his speech about 7:30 o'clock. It will be carried to all parts of the world through 20 radio stations.

Butler Statement Won't Affect Vote, Says Mellon

New York, Aug. 20 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, returning on the Leviathan from a European vacation today, said he did not think that Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler's variance with Herbert Hoover on the prohibition and peace issues would "make any appreciable difference, in the outcome of the election."

Secretary Mellon read Mr. Butler's letter when newspapers were first handed their at Quarantine. He declined to amplify his brief statement, or to talk on other political matters.

26,000 CHINESE REDS SLAIN BY NATIONALISTS

Moscow, Aug. 20 (INS)—Twenty-six thousand Chinese Communists have been executed by the Nationalists in the past year, according to a report from the Chinese Federation of Labor received today by the Red International of Trade Unions. The Chinese laborites asked for assistance in the fight against the Kuomintang.

The report declared "a total of 215,000 Chinese workers and civilian peasants were slaughtered during the period covered by the report without cause other than that they passively resisted the brutalities of the Chinese generals."

FIREWORKS AND FLAGS FOR MORROW LEAVING OAXACA

Oaxaca City, Mexico, Aug. 20 (AP)—As crowds waved the American flag and set off fireworks, Dwight W. Morrow, United States ambassador to Mexico, boarded a train last night for Mexico City, after a visit of several days here. He was entertained by the state and city and the people extended to him a welcome such as seldom if ever before granted a foreigner.

A thousand-voice children's chorus greeted the ambassador's presence and a native song and dance festival was given in his honor. The governor and state and city officials, the military commander, a band of soldiery and a crowd of cheering citizens escorted him to the railroad station.

Chop Suey at Home

By MARTHA LEE

I'll always blessed the day that I made the acquaintance of real chop suey at the Boston Food Fair. With cocoa to the left of us, house lots before us, fragrant bacon and wieners across the way, potato chips over by the door, the elusive odor of Chinese chop suey tantalized the Martha Lee booth for days until, in a lull, I wandered over to glean some of the savory secrets to pass along to you.

First and foremost, the art of Chinese cookery has been brought right into our own homes. Chop Suey, Chow Mein and Egg Foo Yong can now be made in our own kitchens. The rare and inimitable flavor of the sprouts and sauces has been bottled and canned, and is now carried by all leading grocers.

But you will want to know how to assemble the ingredients, so here is the recipe originated by Mrs. Edward A. Oakes, expert in Chinese food. It is proportioned for two people, but as this means heaping, or platefuls, it really will stretch over four servings.

Mrs. Oakes Chop Suey—One-half pound lean pork, veal or lamb, 1 good size bunch of celery, 1 lb. of onions, cut in small pieces, keeping separate.

Fry meat very brown in a small amount of oil or fat. Spread onions over meat, spread celery over onions. Add 1 tbsp. of Chinese brown sauce, 2 tbsps. of Chinese soy sauce, and all the juice from can of sprouts; cover and cook over a brisk fire for ten minutes, then spread sprouts over all and cook for 2 minutes more.

Mix flour and water as for a gravy and thicken at edges. Then mix all together with a spoon and remove from fire at once.

Shredded green peppers, tomatoes, or pimentos may be added if desired, or diced pineapple or pimentos.

For the variations which are so popular, simply add green peppers, mushrooms, bamboo shoots, or chicken to the original chop suey foundation.

Chow mein is simply the original chop suey recipe served on the meio noodles.

Just empty them into a pie tin and warm them in the oven for a few minutes. Then arrange on a hot platter and cover with the chop suey.

PLANES FAIL TO FIND MEN LOST IN ARCTIC

Rome, Aug. 20 (AP)—The first report from the Norwegian sealing ship Braganza, which sailed Thursday north from Kings Bay to renew search for the missing six members of the crew of the dirigible Italia and Roald Amundsen and his five companions, told of failure. The messagt said Sunday two Italian hydroairplanes explored at low altitude the ground known as Seven Islands off North Cape, Spitsbergen. The fliers were certain no men were on any places which they visited.

MURRAY BUTLER DEFIES HOOVER

New York, Aug. 20 (AP)—Herbert Hoovers views on prohibition and a naval program in his speech of acceptance are rejected by Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University and life-long Republican.

In a letter printed by the New York Times today Butler says: "What I wish to make plain is that no candidate of my party for President can commit me or countless others like me to any such doctrines or any such policies," and quotes Patrick Henry: "If this be treason make the most of it."

Dr. Butler describes the 18th amendment as "an alien and unnaturalized intruder of the constitution," that must be deported if the constitution is to be preserved.

Dr. Butler describes Mr. Hoover as "accepting the formula of that paid band of agitators, lobbyists and persecutors which calls itself the Anti-Saloon League," when "he speaks of nullification as if that were an unheard of and horrid thing."

The letter adds:

"The process and action which it is now fashionable to call nullification are the accepted and usual ways by which any free people, and particularly the American people, have gotten rid of laws they did not like or that were offensive to their sense of justice and right."

Smith Dangles Beer Bottle Before Voters, Says Thomas

Milwaukee, Aug. 20 (AP)—Norman Thomas of New York, Socialist candidate for the Presidency, assailed Governor Smith of New York before several thousand persons at the annual picnic of the Socialist party at West Allis.

"Governor Smith," Mr. Thomas told the Socialists, "is bargaining a beer bottle before the workers in the hope they will forget about bread." He predicted that regardless of the Presidential election result neither party will make any change in prohibition.

"Whether Smith or Hoover wins is to us a matter of minor sporting interest," Mr. Thomas said. "Some of us who were guilty of voting for Wilson in 1916 because he kept us out of war, only to learn that the difference between him and Hughes was the rhetorical embellishments which he offered to the god of war, are not likely soon to throw away our votes again by choosing between tweedledum and tweedledee."

HOPS OFF FOR NICARAGUA WITH PLANE FOR MARINES

Washington, Aug. 20 (AP)—Lieut. C. Frank Schill, noted marine corps aviator, took off from the naval air station in a tri-motored transport monoplane early today for Nicaragua where he will deliver the plane to the marines. His first stop was planned for Fort Bragg, Fayetteville, N. C., where the plane will be refueled.

The flyer had fired Miami, Fla., for tonight's lay over. Unless he strikes bad weather, he will try to make Managua in one hop from Miami. If he encounters unfavorable weather, he plans to stop at Tela, Honduras.

Give the children their share!

Don't forget the children when you're passing Chelmsford around. They'll love it and it's a healthful drink to give them. Chelmsford isn't like "cheap" ginger ales. It's made with the purest Jamaica ginger and flavored with sun-ripened fruit juice. That's why it tastes better and is better for you!

Yet it costs you no more than many inferior ginger drinks. It is New England's biggest-selling brand and we distribute it direct to dealers with our own trucks. Order a case for the pantry. Just be sure it's "Chelmsford." It pays. At all drug, confectionery and grocery stores. Golden and Pale Dry.

Tunney and Public That Giant Surge Sharkey Comes Back Petee Wrack Wins

By Nick Flatley

GENE TUNNEY—and here's hoping he is getting a little of the seclusion he likes on the sounding main—should write a book of advice to future champions. And use for a motto: Never try to dodge the publicity that goes with your title.

Young Mister Tunney is now one of the richest and likewise unhappiest youths in the world. He wanted to retire, drop out of sight completely. He should have known it couldn't be done. The ordinary millionaire might vanish, and nobody care a hoot. A president could walk out of the picture, without great protest.

Nick Flatley

But a sport hero must say a personal good-by to all the gang, or suffer the consequences. For the sport fan thinks the athlete his personal property and stands up for his rights. There's no condition like it in any other business.

Gene knows all this now, and will do plenty of regretting that he did not step right out into the spotlight and stay there for a week. He might have talked his head off and let the boys snap a million pictures of him. Then he would have gone into history as a good fellow, who knew enough to quit when he had plenty.

As it is, the poor old boy will be pestered wherever he goes for the next two or three years. And he has made enemies, as some of the unfounded yarns that have come out lately show.

Tunney was a real champ, but he never did get the proper angle on the public. He has done one good turn, though. His walking tour will make Thornton Wilder's next book a best seller before it goes to press.

BRAVE fans are getting a great kick out of the wild rush of the Giants. Three young men who started big leagueing at the Wigwam have been figuring prominently in the mad dash to the front backed by the McGraws, Larry Benton, Jimmy Welsh and Frank Hogan have had more than a little to do with the rise of the New York clan.

Larry, a great pitcher for two years with the Tribe, has won 20 games. He figured in two of the three St. Louis victories that swept first place for his club. He's a red hot candidate for the most valuable player honor.

Jimmy Welsh was kept on the Giant bench early in the year, but has been a regular since midsummer. And the club has been hitting the high spots since James went regularly to work.

Large Francis Hogan of Somerville does the big part of the New York catching and a lot of the club's most important hitting. Incidently, he's the most colorful bird in the N. Y. lineup.

Baseball fans, through the last five years, never have been very partial to the Giants. The club won too many pennants, probably. But the drive of this present outfit, when it seemed hopelessly outclassed, has taken popular fancy.

J. McGraw will be popular and John has a break coming. His baseball genius has risen superior to financial reverses that would have ruined any but a stout-hearted, natural fighter.

JACK SHARKEY, who should be the next heavy champion of the world, will draw one of the greatest sport crowds Boston has known when he appears at Fenway Thursday night. Jack will pack 'em in and will get a real reception. Which will tickle the cockles of his heart as much as the title might.

Sharkey, who fought his way up to the big shots in local rings, never was popular here. Simply because he came along when James Maloney was a new idol, and proceeded to plaster James. Jack is up there now, so all the old stuff is forgotten. The gang is always with a winner.

ONE of the happiest men in the universe is John A. Macomber, the Boston sportsman whose Petee Wrack galloped to sensational victory in the Travers Stake Saturday at Saratoga. The wealthy horsemen spend millions to get animals that can take one of these big stakes. Year after year they plunge fortunes and smile hopefully when they see them disgraced.

Mr. Macomber has been for years one of the greatest boosters of the thoroughbred. He has raced his horses in most of the countries of the world. He has sought champions, at enormous prices. Now he has realized the ambition of every horseman—a colt, picked up for what is considered small change in racing circles, has nodded first at the judges in one of the big classics.

Patience is its own reward, in this case long delayed, but the more enjoyable now that it has arrived.

BIG BOUT TO AUGUST 28 WINNER

McLarnin Likely to Face Flowers or Finnegan at New Garden Opener

Dick "Honeyboy" Finnegan of Dorchester and Bruce Flowers of New Rochelle, N. Y., will have a big stake to shoot at when they meet in their return battle at Braves Field Tuesday evening, August 28.

McLARNIN BOUT LIKELY

Promoter Mack has been carrying on negotiations with the Golden Coast lightweight for the past few weeks and has virtually clinched the appearance of this star here for an early November date.

With such an incentive, it is almost a surety that this return meeting between these bitter rivals will go down in boxing history as one of the greatest lightweight contests ever decided in this city, regardless of the fact that the Hub has been noted for its lightweights in years past.

While Flowers caused a big fistic upset when he defeated Finnegan upon theis last meeting here, the Dorchester boy expects to turn the tables on the ebony strak this time on account of the weight agreement.

In fact it was a long-drawn up controversy concerning weight which prevented these favorites from being matched before. Finnegan insisted that Flowers weigh 134 pounds at 3 o'clock of the day of the fight and, of course, Flowers objected vigorously.

When they last met the weight agreement called for both boys to weigh 135 pounds. Of course such weight is easy for Honeyboy, but the extra pound means considerable to Flowers.

FLOWERS IS CONFIDENT

Yet, so confident is Flowers that he can make it two in a row over Finnegan that he finally yielded to the demand of the Hub star and posted a forfeit to make 134 pounds.

Flowers' great strength resulted in his victory when he last met Finnegan, for the Dorchester boy tired in the late rounds, while the colored flash came fast in the last three rounds, winning the verdict by his brilliant finish. For the season, Honeyboy is expected to adopt different tactics in this return meeting.

The same summer feature of 50 rounds of boxing at a penny a round will be continued and tickets may be procured at 61 Court st.

HELEN WILLS

International Several Pose

Helen is at Forest Hills, New York, for the women's national tennis championships. She is expected to repeat her triumphs of other years with a win in the women's singles title matches. Miss Willis does not play today, as she drew a bye in the first round. Helen starts off tomorrow. She faces Mrs. J. S. Taylor of New York. There does not seem to be anyone in the tourney capable of beating the clever Californian.

Red Grange After Stage Honors

By GEORGE W. GRIMM

HAROLD RED GRANGE, the famous football star, is an actor now. Red is gaining his yards over the boards of the stage. He appeared at Loew's State theater and took part in a little act that is all his.

Red was asked: "How do you like Boston on your third appearance here?"

"I love Boston," said Grange.

It is true "Red" Grange's act was stopped for a loss because of Sunday laws.

He sang a little and went through with his act, but it was only a rehearsal for the famous gridiron hero.

Red said he had made a lot of money since leaving college.

"In the last few years," Grange said, "I easily have gathered in $700,000. Laugh that one off, although I cannot boast of having that much money.

"How much do you figure you're worth?"

"OH, I would say about a half million." You see I collected heavy as football star in my professional games, and with what I gathered here and there on candy, sweaters and other concessions I made plenty more.

"On one candy advertising stunt we gathered in about $170,000.

"Do you intend to give up football at the present time?" Red was asked.

"No, I will play in the fall but just where I do not know. I am signed up to appear before the footlights until the playing season starts.

Red was there behind the bright lights sporting a football outfit, bare-legged and wearing his famous No. 77. In fact Red has written a song which is to be published within a couple of weeks.

Roberti Now Claims Heavyweight Crown

New York, Aug. 20 (INS)—Enthroned by his victory over Johnny Risko on a foul last week, Roberto Roberti today was on record with a claim to the heavyweight title vacated by Gene Tunney. The Italian's manager, August Meroscalchi, apparently believing that Risko is the only contender to be eliminated, dispatched a letter to the National Boxing Association urging that body to recognize Roberti as the champion without further ado.

Operate On Braves Fielder

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 20—Earl Clark was resting comfortably at Bethesda Hospital this morning following an emergency operation for appendicitis last night by Dr. J. Stewart Hagen.

His condition is considered good. Clark's single in the ninth inning tied up Saturday's game for the Braves after which more hitting won it. He felt ill at noon Sunday, was excused from going to the park by Hornsby and after the game was examined by Dr. Hagen and rushed to the hospital.

Helen Wills Draws Bye in First Round

By MALCOLM ROY
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 20—With Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, eight times a holder of the women's national lawn tennis title, as the only possible obstacle in the path of another triumph for Miss Helen Wills, national, French and English champion, the 41st annual tournament for the women's national lawn tennis championship of the United States will get under way on the turf courts of the West Side Tennis Club here this afternoon.

Nothing short of a phenomenal reversal of form by Miss Wills or miraculous playing by some one of her opponents stands in the way of a successful defense of her title by the California marvel.

Besides the California girl and Mrs. Mallory there are two other former holders of the national title listed to play. Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, also of California, who a quarter of a century ago won the national and English championships and held a position in the lawn tennis world of 1904 and 1905 quite as conspicuous as that occupied by Miss Wills today, is one of this pair of ex-champions.

The other is Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, who also dominated the courts in her day of glory.

NINE SEEDED PLAYERS

These four, with Miss Helen Jacobs of Santa Barbara, Cal.; Miss Edith Cross, of San Francisco; Mrs. Charlotte Hosmer Chapin of San Francisco and Springfield, Mass., Miss Marjory Morrill, of Dedham, Mass., and Miss Penelope Anderson, of Richmond, Va., are the seeded players in the championships.

Miss Jacobs has for several years been standing on the threshold of the great, having been a member of the Wightman Cup team both here and abroad and playing exceptionally fine tennis.

Mrs. Chapin has held a prominent position on the courts both in California and the East for the last eight or ten years.

Miss Morrill, the Boston girl, has shown fine promise this season and may go far in the tournament and as much may also be said of Edith Cross, one of the half dozen youngsters California is sending into the tournament.

This group includes Midge Gladman, who has already won fame for herself; Evelyn Parson, a diminutive schoolgirl, and Caroline Swartz, all of whom are likely to be heard from in championship play for several years to come.

Much interest, of course, attaches to the entry of Mrs. Bundy, who has demonstrated in the last few weeks that she is far from past her prime that one cannot still hold her own against more youthful opponents. She also starred in striking fashion in the Eastern championships last Saturday, when she defeated Mrs. Chapin for the title in a brilliant three-set match.

Mrs. Bundy will be no setup for the youngsters in the championship singles, and may go well on toward the title before finally succumbing. Here is perhaps one of the most remarkable come-backs on record, for she was winning championships before Helen Wills was born and at a time when the wizardry of the late William Larned and the famed Doherty brothers of England held the whole lawn tennis world in thraldom.

Sixty players in all will take the courts for the title play, which begins at 3 o'clock this afternoon, but the lurk of the draw gives Miss Wills a bye, so that she will not get into action until tomorrow. The starred matches for today include the following:

2 p. m.—Miss Marjorie Gladman, Palo Alto, Cal., vs. Miss Alice Fabyan, East Orange, N. J.; Miss Marjory Morrill, Dedham, Mass., vs. Miss Dorothy Bridges, Boston, Mass.

4 p. m.—Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, Santa Monica, Cal., vs. Miss Charlotte Miller, New York; Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, New York, vs. Miss Geng Burritt, Toronto.

5 p. m.—Miss Helen Jacobs, Santa Barbara, Cal., vs. Miss Marie Forsterer, Englewood, N. J.; Mrs. I. Hotchkiss, Wightman, Boston, vs. Miss Mayme MacDonald, New York.

BRITISH STARS IN WESTERN AMATEUR

Chicago, Aug. 20—Having acquired that international touch, through the presence of the British Walker cup team, and having been overlooked by the American Walker cup team, almost in its entirety, the Western amateur golf championships gets under way at Bob O'Link today.

The presence of the visiting golfers from Great Britain, the defending Western champion, Bon Stein of Seattle, and the entry of the usual quota of ex-champions, runners-up and gentlemen in waiting, brings the field up beyond the 180 mark, and necessitates two days of qualifying.

The field, without the presence of the invading British forces, is quite up to the standard of any of the previous Western championships. With them, it takes its place right alongside the national amateur, as a tournament in which golf, and lots of it, will be the order of the day.

Naturally, the British players, who are to make a bid for the Walker cup, at the Chicago club, August 30 and 31, will be the attraction today and Tuesday, and possibly right through the week. It will be their first competitive appearance in this country and something of a line may be reached on their prowess, through their efforts in this week's play.

For the business of qualifying, each of the British team has been paired off with an American golfer, who rates right up among the best in the championship.

The qualifying rounds, 18 holes each day, will be an endless procession from 7:30 a. m. until the last twosome gets away from the tee at three in the afternoon.

Pennock Suffering From Neuritis

New York, Aug. 20 (AP)—Fear was expressed here today regarding the condition of Herbert Pennock, star left-hander of the Yankees. The pitcher has a case of neuritis, it was reported, and while it was said "he would be ready to pitch tomorrow," some observers asserted that none could say just how long Pennock would remain inactive.

He was to have worked in one of the games against Cleveland yesterday, but failed to appear on the mound. It now is said that he will open against St. Louis tomorrow.

LOU MEYER WINS AUTO RACE AT ALTOONA

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 20 (INS)—Lou Meyer, youthful Californian who first won fame by winning the Indianapolis races Memorial Day, today wore a new crown after winning the 200-mile international sweepstakes at Altoona speedway before a holiday crowd of 65,000. Young Meyer, driving a Stutz special, maintained a pace of 117 miles an hour covering the distance in 1:42:45.

RUFFING ON HILL FOR CARRIGAN

Athletes of Two Clubs to Have Track Meet Before Game

By NICK FLATLEY

CHARLIE RUFFING will try this afternoon to get away from the hard luck that has pursued him through most of the present baseball season. Charlie has been nominated to fling the last game of the Red and White Sox series at the Fenway. The big fellow has done a lot of mighty good pitching this year, but it hasn't carried him anywhere in the matter of results.

Time and again he has held his mates to very low scores, but his own gang has not been able to get him any runs. He has marched to do relief duty on a number of occasions and been a victim of errors or those pesky handle hits.

He has proved through the campaign that he's a good pitcher, however, and he will be a valuable bird when Carrigan finally gets the kind of a team he wants built up.

Charlie is not picking off any soft assignment today, though. The Chisox have been beaten twice by the natives, and are raring to go. Their plans of grasping second place have been rudely jolted. And they are sending young Ed Walsh to the mound.

The son of the great spitballer has been like Red twice and looked like the old man doing it. So this final fracas should furnish quite a pitching scrap.

THE races that were abolished by the showers Saturday will be put on before the pastime. The boys of the two clubs will start things with a 100-yard dash at 1:45.

Then the pitchers will have a 50 yard race and the catchers engage in a sack race. After which, there will be a base running contest and a ball throwing exhibition.

Big league athletes are always arguing about speed on foot and strength of arm. They seldom get a chance to make good their personal boasts, for managers frown on private competitions. They are likely to cause hard feeling, especially if the boys put up money. But it may result in fun.

So, when a sanctioned meet comes along, the athletes go right to it. There is plenty of real athletic class escorted by any big league club.

MOST of Manager Bill Carrigan's weary veterans have recovered from the effects of too many double headers, but Hill will keep his submarin working for a while. The new shift has done very well, and the club has come back with a bang against the White Sox.

Bill Rogell has been doing a good job at shortstop, and is beginning to hit the ball, now that he has a chance to look over pitching daily. Jack Rothrock is showing considerable as a right fielder and for the past 10 days has been hitting the ball harder than anybody in the army, except Buddy Meyer.

Jack is taking his swing now, instead of hitting while starting toward first, and as a result seems to be on the way toward mortgaging a regular job.

The Sox get enough pitching to win half their ball games if they hit at all, and there have been recent signs of a return of the spring punch that made the club so dangerous.

U. S. Yacht "Nina" Wins British Race

Plymouth, Eng., Aug. 20 (AP)—The fast little American yacht Nina, which recently captured the Queen's Cup in the Spanish ocean yacht race, added to her laurels today, winning the fourth annual Fastnet race from Cowes to Plymouth. The Nina arrived at Plymouth at 12:18 o'clock this morning.

The second yacht to finish was the American schooner Mohawk, which came into port ten hours after the Nina.

Eight British yachts were in the field. The course was from Cowes, on the Isle of Wight, to Fastnet, on the southwest coast of County Cork, Ireland, and hence back to Plymouth.

Peterson Sure He Will Go Distance With Sharkey

BIG BOY SET TO GRAB AT FAME

Sharkey Comes Home Tomorrow With Manager and Trainer

BIG BOY PETERSON, heavyweight champion of the Middle West, will concentrate on a body attack when he battles Jack Sharkey, unbeaten heavyweight champion of the world, in a 10-round bout at Fenway Park Thursday night.

The giant from Minneapolis has displayed a terrific right hand smash under the heart, in his training workouts at Toland's Gymnasium, against Big Bill Hartzell and Walter Sells, and he believes that he will march in to a victory over Sharkey with that single weapon.

Peterson laughs at the idea that Sharkey will knock him out. "Who was Sharkey ever knocked out?" he asks. "And who has ever knocked me out? I am willing to bet $1000 to $5000 that I'll knock the fight out, and I am confident $5000 even money that I go the limit."

The Big Boy, of Swedish and Irish descent, has an impressive record if he is not the best young heavyweight in the country. He will go until one comes along. In weight Ernie Schaaf here. Twice he licked Otto Von Porat and floored the former Olympic champion six times.

Just two occasions, he plastered Benny Touchstone and he also holds a decision over Johnny Grosso. He is fired with ambition to beat Sharkey, for he knows that such a victory will mean hundreds of thousands of dollars to him.

He trained for two weeks in Minneapolis before coming here and will start his final few days of sparring this afternoon at Toland's gymnasium.

Sharkey is due home tomorrow with Johnny Buckley, his manager, and Tony Palanola, his trainer, and he will have his last workout at Leahey & Hasset' gymnasium on Wednesday afternoon.

New England is going to get a look at the finest heavyweight that has represented this part of the world in many a generation, if not so far differed Sharkey than the young sailor who started his career here only a few years back.

Today, he is rated as a wind-swept, with a furious aggressiveness that has been equalled by only one fighter in modern history—Jack Dempsey.

The demand for tickets has been so tremendous since the match was announced a week ago that Col. Mc-Kinley, matchmaker for the A. A. A. C., has decided to keep his office at 325 Washington st., Room 213, open until 9 o'clock every night.

A BRILLIANT preliminary card was completed over the week-end by Col McKinley to be staged in round semifinal, Laddie Lee or Portland will swap punches with Jimmy Amato White, veteran middleweight from the North End.

In another eight rounder, Jackie Donovan of Providence will have fought main bouts here with Chick Suggs and Johnny Sheppard, will throw pounds at Charley Holmes, flashy pound featherweight.

ROSS BREAKS RECORD

Arinur Ross, the North End long distance swimmer, broke all records in a swim from Boston Light to the Charlestown bridge.

The little Italian, who holds the record for swimming from Revere to Nahant, made the long journey from the light to the bridge in four hours and 40 minutes.

That is more than a half hour faster than the record held by Sam Richards, who made the swim from the bridge to the light in five hours, 28 minutes.

BOL D'OR IS ON WEDNESDAY

The Bol d'Or, hailed at the 11th mile Saturday night by the rain, will again be offered at the Revere Cycle Track Wednesday night. The same field, seven riders in all, will battle for the honors, and with a fair night and dry track, the 50 mile record is expected to be closely approached, if not broken. Frankie Keenan, despite the fact that he was in last place when the race was called Saturday, will again take a favorite. Riding against him will be George Chapman, his bitter rival, Francesco Zucchetti, Vincent Madonna, Theodore Wynsdau, Dan Tiolone, and Larry Gaffney.

Saturday night, Keenan, Chappie and the others rode cautiously after the first mile, on account of the slippery track, which accounts for the fact they were so far behind. Pacione, who was leading, flew around at the risk of serious injury, had his wheel slipped.

With the special sprint match between Horder, Beckman and Guyott settled Nat Butler will arrange another semi-final contest for Wednesday.

Rain check from Saturday night will be honored.

One Big Inning

Dorchester bunched enough hits in the sixth inning of its game with the East Cambridge Catholic Club at Plympton Field, East Cambridge, to score five runs and win the game, 6 to 5.

East Cambridge's ninth inning rally just fell shy.

Tipperary and Roscommon Win Out

Both the junior and senior Galway teams of the Gaelic football league were defeated in the double bill staged at Columbus Park, South Boston, before a record crowd of 6000 fans.

In the junior game, which was put on first, Tipperary defeated the Galway juniors 8 points to 2, scoring one goal and five points to one goal for their opponents.

The Roscommon victory over the seniors was won by 2 points to 1, and was the first defeat that the Galway 15 has met with this season, and the third in two years.

Galway was a strong favorite before the game started. All three points were scored in the first period, and the second half was a real tussle.

SAILORS RACE LIFE BOATS

Various steamship companies all over the world are busy making plans for the second annual life boat race which will be held under the auspices of the Neptune Association or New York Harbor on Labor Day.

More than the usual interest is being manifested in this year's race due to the fact that four cups will be offered instead of one.

In addition the Todd international lifeboat trophy will be presented to the winner. This cup was won by Garcia and Dias last year and was just recently returned to the association for this season's competition.

Gene Tunney's Own Life Story Reads Like Epic

The Life and Career of Gene Tunney Told in Pictures By Hal Coffman

THIS IS THE BEGINNING OF THE LIFE STORY OF "GENE" TUNNEY — WHOSE CAREER IS NOT UNLIKE THAT OF THE RAGGED BOY AND THE FAIRY PRINCESS OF THE STORY BOOK

story completed—his life's work is fittingly epilogued. He is through and sits back with complacent self-satisfaction to observe the world pass by.

IN my own case it is different. With less than half my allotted time behind me I am requested to sum up the story of my life. It is easy to do this. There is no haze of time hiding the years. I am still close to the boyhood scene of Greenwich Village days.

At the ringside in my last fight with Tom Heeney were two boyhood pals—Jimmy Eagleton and Arthur O'Connor—who always spent a few weeks in my camp before each of the big fights. Dr. Robert Shea, my personal physician who examined me preceding my three championship bouts, is another neighborhood boy.

But it is not only contact with old friends that maintains memories of early days prior to the war. It is the fact that these days were lived but a short time ago.

Gene Recalls Boyhood Days

It seems like yesterday that we were racing up the street from the Hudson river piers, clutching an armful of clothing, with round "cops" on our heels.

The young chap speaking from the tailend of a wagon, eloquently exhorting the group of Villagers to vote for his dad now is the mayor of New York City. In front of His Honor's present residence in Greenwich Village is a modern playground replacing an old cemetery that served the same purpose only a few years ago.

The public school where we spent several years, the academy where high school years were passed, the Boys' Club with weekly dues of two cents; the gymnasium that was the rendezvous of all the lads in their spare time and where I first put on boxing gloves; the library that offered books to take us to new scenes and adventures never experienced by city kids—these landmarks are still a part of the neighborhood though the old residents have moved away to make room for the Bohemian invasion of tea shops, antique furniture stores, cafes, restaurants, dance halls, and artists' studios.

AS in the lives of the people of the Village so is the physical appearance, it was the World War that brought changes. Young men were uprooted from their little sphere and carried to distant camps and countries. Few went back to the old scenes and their former occupations.

And it was the war that took me away from a shipping clerk's desk at $15 a week salary and launched me on the career that took 10 years of my life, ending last month with my retirement from the ring as undefeated heavyweight champion.

Shall Explore Other Fields

But that retirement was from the boxing ring only. I have no intention of ending my life's work at the age of 30. Other desires, other fields I expect to fulfill and explore. What they shall be depends upon many things.

However, I am happy to have won the full laurels of the profession I entered. I have no cause for complaint against the game that gave me fame and what might be called a fortune. What I set out to do it was my good fortune to accomplish.

I gave boxing all of energy and time and faithful devotion. I studied it and planned my bouts and kept myself fit so as to win the championship and hold it.

NOW that all the thrills are exhausted, now that nothing new is presented, it appeals to me no longer.

I am looking forward, not to leisure, which is devastating to one's life, but to fresh endeavors, hoping to succeed with them aided by the wisdom and experience gained in professional sport that has taken its place side by side with other professions and occupations.

(Chapter 2 of "My True Life Story" will appear in this newspaper on Wednesday.)

SUGGS-MOORE CARDED FOR TONIGHT

The biggest bout staged in Lynn in many a year will take place at General Electric field tonight, when the Crescent A. C. presents a 10 round bout between Chick Suggs, former featherweight champion of New England, and Frankie Moore of Medford.

Suggs is one of the most satisfactory performers in the country. His battle with Dick Honeyboy Finnegan, Babe Herman, and Sammy Fuller are numbered among the most exciting clashes ever seen in this city, and his bout with the rough hard-punching young Moore tonight should be just as good.

Tommy Lee, hard-hitting French welterweight from Salem, and Charlie Parker, Jewish sensation from the West End, will be paired in the eight round semi-final bout, while in the six rounders, Tom Harper, brilliant young Medford lightweight, will meet George French of Boston and Johnny Hanson of Lynn will face Fighting Dick Vogt, also of Lynn.

Matchmaker Lou Penney is making preparations to handle a capacity crowd, and in addition to the regular feature of a band concert and free parking, he has secured Big Boy Peterson, one of the leading heavyweights in the world, to appear as his guest at the ringside.

Golf a Two-Fisted Game—Farrell

By JOHNNY FARRELL,
American Open Champion

There has always been a deal of talk among students of golf, but particularly among those striving to solve Scotia's puzzling pastime regarding the part the left arm plays in the swing.

There seems to be a general impression that the left arm plays a more important role in the stroking of the ball than its northern neighbor. This may be true and any number of learned exponents of the game are advocates of this thought, but in my mind there is no such belief.

It is my idea that the part each arm plays in the swing is just as essential as the other. In other words, golf to me is a two-fisted game and through the years of my self-schooling I have tried to make m hands and wrists and forearms share the burden of the swing.

The finest model of style of all time—Harry Vardon—has always been known and admired as a two-fisted hitter. From start to finish there is no relinquishing of power to either hand. Because of his ase Vardon is got the golfer he was once.

The pace of the younger players has become too fast for him, but they tell me his swing has not deteriorated one whit; that it is as sweet a bit of rhythm as ever it was. Vardon therefore is a great living lesson to all those golfers who need to be told that the cultivation of style is the prime need of every player.

IN the teaching of the golf swing the pupil is cautioned to take the club back slowly and with the left arm in command. This is the popular formula and because of its general acceptance, indubitably has proved successful. But you, being a pupil, may rightfully ask:

"How should I take it back with my left in control?"

Merely because if you hasten the one of the vast majority of right-hand golfers the left is your weaker member, and were you permitted to take the club back with your right as you would do naturally, the right would so strongly predominate as to make the left almost null and void.

Your swing would become chiefly one of the right hand, and that would be a calamity because it would be without the directing and guiding influence of the left.

ENGLISH LASS FIGHTS WAY TO HOME SHORES

Dover, Eng., Aug. 20—All England is cheering for the stout-hearted lass who successfully negotiated the difficult swim from Cape Gris-Nez in France to Dover.

Just 19 hours and a quarter after she set out from the French shore Miss Hawke reached out a weary hand and touched the grim rocks which front Hopes Point, a little distance east of Dover.

She started the long grind at 9:46 o'clock at night and through the long hours continued with steady stroke, while a man, Frank Perks of Birmingham, who overtook her after her start, weakened and was forced to quit the water about eight in the morning.

The toughest part of the entire swim for the British miss was at the very end, when it seemed for a time as though she might be cheated out of the honor which seemed within her grasp.

As she entered near the ghostly cliffs of Dover a contrary current swept against her. Tired as she was the young woman fought with every bit of her fast waning strength and after a terrific struggle she reached out and felt the welcome touch of the clammy rocks.

Yankees Now Out of Slump—Gehrig

DEAR ROG:—I just finished reading a story in the newspaper which said that the Yankee pitching was terrible That gives me a laugh.

We've been playing pretty bad baseball for a few weeks itog and we've looked just as bad as the papers have said—but it wasn't the pitching. It was the hitting and fielding that was all wet. None of us were hitting a lick. You know how it is when a club goes into a slump.

First one fellow stops hitting and then another and another until at the last you haven't got enough base hits on the ball club to win a school kid game. That's the way we were.

But the pitching was great.

And I'm telling you honestly, Rog, I never saw such an exhibition of pitching as Herbie Pennock gave. You saw him in the world series a couple of years ago and you know he is there. But he was greater on this last trip than he was in the world series. He's a wonder.

AND now that we've got Lefty Heimach we've got a four man pitching staff that's just as good as any in the league. Believe me, Rog, when a club can shoot four men like Pennock, Hoyt, Pipgras and Heimach at opposing clubs, the other fellows will know they've been somewhere.

I haven't seen all the great pitching staffs in baseball and I'm more or less a kid at the game, but I don't know of any four men who have been in baseball since I've been playing who have any more real class than these four.

I notice that the Giants are beginning to climb in your league Rog, and it wouldn't surprise me to see them take the lead and win the pennant. There's one thing you've got to hand to McGraw teams. They're always fighters—and they're never so dangerous as they are right when they seem to be whipped.

I NOTICE, too, that the Braves are beginning to win ball games from the pennant contenders. That's to be expected. A National League pla er told me last week that when it comes to the finish of the season when every game counts there's no more dangerous outfit in the whole league than the Braves.

Over in our league the Athletics are the whole show. Everybody's pulling for them and all over the circuit the fans are riding us and cheering the A's. That's to be expected, I guess. Connie Mack has a sympathetic hold that can't be broken—and everyone is pulling for him. So am I, if we can't win.

But we can and will. The Yankees are out of their slump. We're playing real ball again and from here on out you'll be hard to catch.

Sincerely,

Lou Gehrig

Pair of Yankees Die at Plate in Inning

New York, Aug. 20—The record throng of 65,000 fans were handed a thrill at the Yankee Stadium when the Cleveland Indians nipped two men at the plate in the seventh inning, when the Yanks threatened to win the first game of a double-header.

With three men on the sacks, Durst hit to Joe Sewell and Gehrig was forced at the plate.

Autry threw to first in hopes of making a double play and Meusel tried to sneak home on the throw but Morgan's relay to Autry nipped the second Yankee runner at the plate.

NEW LEAGUE TO START OFF SEPT. 8

By BILL McAULEY

The game at Blake Field, Cambridge, where the Lusitan Rowing Club beat the Worcester Americans 3 to 0, was abundant with fun, soccer and the 2000 fan present went away delighted with the exhibition the teams served up. The Lusitania team had rands full as the Norwegians were in the contest from start to finish and but for a few bad breaks would have scored.

Foley, Loomis and Gavin got the goals for the winners and every one of them were beauties, Arneson having no chance to stop any one of them.

Massachusetts State League, semi-pro circuit, is now in session as a result of the meeting called Saturday night by Jack Kershaw, the Harvard coach, and the giveaway day has been set for Sept.

Clubs forming the new circuit are Whittalls and Morgans of Worcester, Athol Worsted, Lawrence, General Electric, and Lusitania Recreation. This sextette are all first class teams and the American League will have to look to its laurels in this district.

Manager Butler of the Lusitan club has been trying to induce the Woodies to play his club an exhibition game at Walpole Street the coming Saturday but so far his efforts has been unsuccessful. That would be a good tryout game for the Woodies which opens its season next week.

Werner Nilsen, the clever Norwegian forward, has attached his signature to a contract with the Woodsies for another year. Nilsen was one of the mainstays of the club last year and it is a certainty that he got an increase in salary for the coming season.

WON FAME WHEN SHE CROSSED THE CHANNEL

Miss Ivy Hawke swam the English Channel in 19 hours and 16 minutes. She is the 14th person to conclude the swim successfully. Fame awaits the 19-year-old girl in her native land. Most of the great men swimmers who have tried the swim have failed to finish. So Miss Hawkes can look down on a lot of mere men from now on.

BLOW TO SMITH IS SEEN IN POLL

AL'S HOPE FOR FARMER VOTE BLASTED, SAYS LEADER

Chicago, Aug. 20—Democratic hopes of obtaining a heavy vote in the rural sections of Republican states have been blasted by the trend of farmer opinion shown by the Herald and Examiner and other Hearst newspapers' nationwide presidential poll.

That assertion was made today after a study of the poll by states by James W. Goodwin, manager of Herbert Hoover's western campaign.

But Anton J. Cermak, Democratic president of the county board, and his party's dripping wet candidate for the United States Senate, read glad tins opposite from the figures.

"The poll shows that the Democratic party will receive a large number of Republican votes," he said. "The farmers are not going to be hypnotized longer by Republican promises of relief.

"They haven't forgotten that Coolidge twice vetoed the McNary-Haugen bill.

"They remember how the Republicans treated Frank O. Lowden, their friend, at Kansas City, when they threw both him and his platform out of the convention.

"They remember, too, that the Democrats attempted to pass the McNary-Haugen bill over the President's veto.

"It has been charged that Hoover participated in framing President Coolidge's second veto of that bill. Whether that charge is true of not, he has not denied it.

"One thing is certain—he did not raise his voice in the farmers' behalf at that time.

"Governor Smith has promised to solve the problem—and the farmers know from his record that he is a public official who keeps his word.'

Senator Deneen declared that the Republican farmers do not believe Governor Smith is fitted by training, experience or education to deal with their economic problems.

Moreover, he asserted, Governor Smith recently contradicted his party's agricultural plank when he resolved himself as opposed to the equalization fee, which the party indorsed in principle at the Houston convention.

Because their problems are economic, Senator Deneen continued, the farmers know that Hoover can solve them because his record proves him to be one of the world's best economists.

Also, the farmers have Hoover's assurance of developing waterways, deep channel barge lines, he continued.

Senator Deneen declared the Hearst poll has convinced him that Hoover will carry Tennessee.

HOOVER SPEAKS FROM TRAIN

Hoover Train en Route to Kansas City, Aug. 20 (AP)—Having put behind him the admittedly debatable ground of Arizona and New Mexico, Herbert Hoover came today to rock-ribbed Republican Kansas to continue conferences with Republican leaders as his train moves on to his old birthplace, at West Branch, Ia.

The Republican presidential candidate's schedule called for five stops, at Dodge City, Hutchinson, Newton, Emporia and Topeka, the home of his running mate, Senator Charles Curtis, who was unable to remain to greet the head of the ticket because of pressing engagements in the East.

Harold Mulvane, national committeeman, Senator Arthur Capper and J. N. (Poly) Tincher, former representative, who nominated Curtis for the presidency at Kansas City, were among the party leaders who were to board the train as it crossed the state. Plans for conducting a vigorous campaign there were to be discussed.

HOOVER SHOWS N. E. GAINS

Up-state voters in Massachusetts have rallied to the aid of Herbert Hoover.

As a result a steady advance in the totals of the Republican candidate for President, against those of his Democratic opponent, Governor Al Smith, is seen in the straw vote now being conducted in New England by the Boston Evening American, in connection with the nationwide canvass of the Hearst newspapers.

Where Hoover holds special sway in cities and towns in Massachusetts are Great Barrington, Grafton, Ipswich, Maynard, Hudson, Belmont, Brookline, and others.

These are truly Republican centers, and, according to the straw votes, they are maintaining the usual Republican strength. Smith, in almost everyone of the above localities, is capturing votes from the Coolidge columns of four years ago.

The stand by the Republican voters generally of these parts is given strength to Hoover, and in cutting down Smith's earlier lead in this State, three to one, to two and a half to one.

LEADS HOOVER

The Smith total for all New England was far in the lead of Hoover, but this was due to the huge vote that he received in Boston, Providence, R. I., and several other large cities.

Hoover, for the second time since the straw vote was started, made inroads into the Smith totals in the Rhode Island State figures. The help Hoover got was from Woonsocket, R. I.

For example, in a block of 50 votes, Hoover was credited with a two to one victory over Smith. Nine women voted for Hoover and one for Smith. Of the total number of votes, 10 of them switched from Coolidge to Smith.

In that same block the 1924 vote gave Coolidge 44 and Davis 5. The women, four years ago, gave Coolidge 7 and Davis 2 votes.

HOOVER GAINS DAILY

A fact that is seen daily in the straw vote and which is also an important factor in forming an opinion, is that Hoover is falling far below the Coolidge figures of 1924, and Smith is running high over the Davis totals.

Smith is also carrying away the honors in the switching, for Hoover is having no trouble in keeping the lead in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, and has cut into the lead of Smith in Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Yet in the grand total, Smith tops New England States, with a lead which is being lessened daily by the Hoover forces. Smith still has a good many votes to spare, but none to waste.

South Anxious to Hear Smith, Says Robinson

New York, Aug. 20 (AP)—An optimistic report on conditions in the South was brought to New York today by Col. T. Robinson, Democratic vice-presidential nominee, who called upon his arrival from his home in Arkansas that Governor Smith's popularity "is rapidly growing" throughout that section and that the South is anxious to hear him.

"Since my last visit to New York at the time of the national committee meeting in July," he said, "I have conferred with many prominent Democrats in my home State and from various parts of the South.

"Some dissatisfaction exists, but it is now clear that this will be more than offset by an awakening on the part of many Democrats who are in the habit of accepting success of our party in that part of the country as a foregone conclusion, and whose interest is being quickened by the Republican threat to invade the South and by the threatened bolt of a few Democrats.

Venizelos won his election contest in Piraeus and his son with 21 other Venizelists was elected in Athens.

Shopping with Priscilla Price

Dearest Anne:

I have a golden secret to tell you. Some Monday soon, in perhaps two weeks, Katherine and Rae are coming in and go shopping with us. That will give you the chance you have been wanting so long to take them to visit every shop and won't it be fun?

Do you remember what good times we had when we were tiny girls playing with Edna and how anxious I used to be to see her even when the snow was so very deep in the winter that Father had to carry me across the fields to her house.

I haven't seen her for a long time but I am always asking for her and last week Beth told me that she had been in to see her and that is honey gold. It gleams with a million hidden lights, just made visible by her use of Fiozor, that magic brightener put up by Lesquendieu of Paris and sold exclusively at the Toilet Goods Department of Meyer Jonasson & Co., Tremont and Boylston Sts., first floor. She herself was surprised at the real wonder of her hair after it had been applied. It is good for blondes and brunettes. It is priced at only $2.50 a bottle, and Edna feels that this is the most satisfactory money she has spent for ages because "Fiozor" has made her hair so radiantly beautiful. I do adore her hair!

You May Be

as lovely a rose and as sweet, but the real effectiveness of your beauty is lost if you have one single hint of that bane to womanhood, superfluous hair. It isn't one bit necessary that you should suffer the embarrassment that goes with such a blemish for it is so easy to call Hancock 7592, and make an appointment with my friend, Miss Elizabeth Sparkes, at 120 Tremont St. She is a real expert in removing superfluous hair painlessly and permanently. She has a special seven needle machine for the legs and it's truly a necessity to have your legs free from hair so that you may revel in the sheerest stockings. Visit Miss Sparkes for satisfaction!

It's Really Necessary

during this time of year when your skin has been exposed to the trying weather of a New England summer at the beach to refresh your lovely skin with some facials. You couldn't do better than to visit the Beauty Shop of Gilchrist & Co., third floor, 417 Washington St., for one of their Komplex facials priced at $2, to refine the skin, close large pores and bleach it even as it beautifies. Contouration facials priced at $2.75 lift sagging muscles and produce a perfect contour. Then there are bleach facials priced at $2 which are famous for bleaching freckles and tan.

Fingerwaves, so necessary to set your permanent are priced at $1.25.

This Is Positively

Exquisite and Very Dainty

are the toilet requisites that milady chooses to carry away on her vacation. Fror while she is away, even as during the time she is at home she must be fastidious and entirely sweet and charming. First she takes a jar of Louise Andre Cleansing Cream priced at 75c, $1.50 and $2.50 which is the perfect modern type of cleansing cream. It liquifies when applied to the skin, penetrates the pores and eliminates all dust, grit and dirt accumulated on the face during the day. And to remove it from her lovely skin she takes a package of cleaning tissue priced at $1 to take off the cream and save the use of towels. The next step is to take along a bottle of Louise Andre Skin Toning Lotion to act as a mild astringent, and cause the pores to function more normally. This makes the skin firm and exquisitely clean and is mildly antiseptic, a good thing to carry along during this season in the country. To scent her nightly bath, she prefers, whether it be Jasmine, Violet, Rose or the odor of Pine, she takes Louise Andre Bath Salts priced at $1.75. They soften the water, are very stimulating, refreshing and faintly fragrant. Bath powder, the crowning glory of a delightful bath, is made of fine talc and scented delicately. It is priced at 85c. You may buy all these products at the Toilet Goods Department of Filene's on the first floor.

who have taken advantage of the wonder waves given at the Poll Parrot Beauty Salons are justly proud for they know that wherever they go their waves will be admired. Mr. Green's Miracle method of waving has won world wide fame as evidenced by the many prizes he has won. In this day of competition this means a great deal. Shears are wielded with a magic hand at this shop and the bobs given here are most becoming. Finger waves, so necessary indeed these days, are done by perfect operators. The Nestine method of treating the hair is used. It renews its natural gleam and loveliness. It behooves you to keep your hair, that crowning glory of womanhood, as fine and becoming as you can. Worry lines and wrinkles are taken care of by contouration facials. For those who cannot come conveniently in the day time hours evening appointments can be made. For more information concerning the marvelous Miracle Waves you may inquire at any Poll Parrot Salon. The addresses are 177 Tremont St. (Capitol 6775), 58 Winter St. (Capitol 5416), or 40 Scollay Square (Haymarket 2903).

Aren't We Lucky

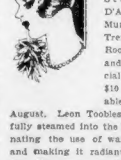
to be able to buy our fur coats at one of "America's Greatest Furriers," Scott Furriers, at 63 Summer St.? Celia was so glad she was able to take advantage of the low prices prevailing at their August sale. Hudson Seals (Dyed Muskrat), Squirrels, Raccoons, Muskrats, Seal Dyed Conies, Caracul, Ponies and Leopards are priced from $80 to $550. By joining the Unique Fur Club you may take advantage of the most economical payment plan ever known as well as the easiest and fairest. You may select your coat now, pay a small deposit and the balance when you get your coat with no charge for alterations or storage. Or open a 30, 60 or 90-day charge account when you take your coat. Select it at low sale prices and pay for it in weekly or monthly payments as you prefer. No compulsory amounts are required and it is not necessary to make payments at regular specified periods. If you are unable to meet your payments for any reason, Scott's are willing and glad to wait until it is convenient for you to do so. This fine store is open every day, including Saturdays, until 7 in the evening for the convenience of those who cannot shop through the day. Let's select your coat today, Anne!

The Spanish Galleries

of Chandler & Co., Tremont St. at West, certainly anticipate, with a knowledge all their own, the particular needs of femininity, for now they have a fine stock of jersey dresses that seem designed to suit the crying needs of fall wear. Surely jersey dresses are as indispensable to the modern miss who attends school as they are to her older sister who goes out to business or to functions during the day. For young misses you'll find jersey dresses in all the newest Fall colorings in one and two-piece models. Some of them come in bright colors and soft shades for late summer wear or to be worn during the winter under a dark coat. Jersey seems to masquerade or to turn itself into a print in the smart printed jerseys. They are most adorable and come in sizes 14 to 20 or 36 to 46 in the women's department. They are priced at $15. Those designed for the Junior Misses are priced at $10 and $15, sizes 13 to 19. They come in an almost unlimited variety of styles and colors and nothing is more smartly right for young girls. The Tomboy model just seems to go with this age and is always good-looking. The $10 section has them, too, in sizes from 14 to 46. You'll want one of each color, I know!

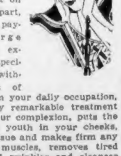
Permanents New

and exquisite with a method all their own are in demand these days particularly if the price is right and the Leon Oil Permanents are truly lovely. You get them at the Beauty Studio of D'Angelo & Murray at 119 Tremont St., Rooms 306-7, and the special price of $10 is available during August. Leon Toobles are carefully steamed into the hair, eliminating the use of waving fluid and making it radiantly beautiful. Since some people object to waving fluid this is a good thing to know. They specialize here in finger waving, always most necessary to set your lovely permanent. Call Capitol 1280 or Liberty 7739 for appointments!



New Youth

while you sleep is given by Scientific Absorption, the secret of Dr. John Post's famous system of Facial Rejuvenation. It co-operates with Nature in giving you new youth and beauty. Without effort on your part, without paying large sums to expensive specialists, without loss of time from your daily occupation, this truly remarkable treatment clears your complexion, puts the bloom of youth in your cheeks, builds tissue and makes firm any sagging muscles, removes tired lines and wrinkles and cleanses your skin to transparent purity with lasting results through advancing years. Telephone Mrs. Gardner, Haymarket 1647, and see what a $5 facial for $2 will give you. Post Institute, 6 Beacon St., Room 910.



Our Beth

has long been planning a lovely house of dreams and since her dream house is soon to become a reality she is taking advantage of Jordan Marsh Company's great August Furniture Sale which is breaking all previous records of sales and making for Jordan's scores of new friends. The sun porch in Beth's dream house is very gorgeous with its green and gold fittings and its sea grass extension chair priced at $22.50 at the sale. Stick reed chairs priced at $19.75 are sturdy and comfortable upholstered in gay colors in brightening cretonnes. And there are many more values that you should see. The Furniture Section is open Tuesday and Thursday evenings this month until 9 for the convenience of those not able to get in during the day!

Beautiful Hands

express your personality and what lovely hands you have, my dear! I know why they are so white and why your nails so softly glow and gleam like the lining of lovely shells. You have discovered the fine Pearlite Nail Polish, made down beside the sea in Hyannisport and its amazing wearing qualities. A package containing qualities. A package containing Pearlite Polish and one of the Remover is priced at $1, at the Toilet Goods Department, of C. Crawford Holdige Company. It does not give a high glossy look, but it lends to your nails a natural lustrous gleam that is entirely lovely. Let's purchase some for Beth!

Varicose Veins

are a detriment to the most fastidiously dressed, but Elaine surely looked trim and smart when she came out of Dr. A. P. Saul's office at 110 Tremont St. You may select Room 312, third floor, the other room she went in the contour of her legs was broken and horrid, but when she purchased a flesh color seamless silk elastic stocking with knitted-in heel for $6.75, what a difference! Smooth and exquisite was the contour of her legs then. Dr. Saul's arch support shoes, priced at $8.00, combine style, quality and arch protection and help keep your tired feet happy. For other treatments for corns, callouses and all foot ailments, visit my foot specialist, Dr. Saul, and find relief!

You Should Take Advantage of the $10 price at the shop of L. Cunningham, at 561 Boylston St., on permanent waves before the end of August, for there you get a guarantee with your permanent and Superior Service indeed. Take your choice of a Vita-Tonic Compound permanent, a Nestle Circuline or a Eugene and have your hair wrapped for ringlet ends. You'll emerge from this delightful shop with a large, deep, loose or tight natural permanent with Mae Murray curls. The operators are most expert and gray, bleached or dyed hair is done successfully. Call Back Bay 9669 for appointments!

Hasn't this been a gorgeous day, my Anne? I just believe that there are many people who would like very much indeed to go with us on our tour of the shops.

This is the week that you are going away to the Big Water, isn't it? Have a good time and be sure and do a lot of swimming for Fall will soon be here and Summer play days will be over.

I shall think of you having a joyous time but be sure and make the earliest train on Monday next week for there'll be another shopping tour with

'400' ALL SET FOR SCITUATE HORSE SHOW

'Mike' Shouts 'Baloney!' But He's Out of Turn

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 20 (INS)—"It's the Baloney!"

When the radio audience of WLW heard this shrewd expression boom out of their loud speakers Saturday night, just after the speech of Senator Charles Curtis had been heralded, they gasped in astonishment.

Announcer William Slees was still perspiring today as he explained that the ambiguous words meant the title of an organ solo to follow from the station's studio at Topeka.

Indignant Republicans and slightful Democrats deluged newspaper offices with telephone calls, but studio officials declared the program had been arranged weeks in advance of the booking of the acceptance address, and that the title of the first number could not have been designed to reflect on the Curtis speech.

FORGET ABOUT DON'TS

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

SOMEWHERE very recently I read the sentence, "Don't try to fight what is wrong. Build up what is right." I think that is a sentence every parent should think about and repeat over and over again. We are so ready to say "Don't" to a child, so eager to point out where he is wrong without exchanging this wrong activity for a constructive one. When "don't" springs to your lips, hold it there unspoken. Think of what the child can DO that is right and which will take the place of what he is doing which is not right. "Don't" always implies two thoughts, the first being to stop what the child is doing, and the second, to supply him with something else to do. Ease up on your battle with the wrong activities of your small person. Devote your time to planning what will be RIGHT for him. He will stop undoubtedly when you say "don't" but a child's whole waking life is activity and he will immediately find something else to do which may not suit you any more than what he is already engaged in. You know what is constructive for him. He does not, which leaves the responsibility squarely up to you, or to him.

We emphasize a child's mistakes and shortcomings entirely too much and too often in his presence. Children like the spotlight as much as their older associates, and if they cannot get into it legitimately they often hedge in by doing things which are not right, not because they want to be "naughty" but because a misdeed will thrust them for the moment to the center of the stage. They will get attention, and some children will even stand punishment just to gratify their wish to be noticed. Therefore when you say "Junior is a pretty good boy only he won't eat his spinach," don't expect him to hang his head in shame and march right up to the vegetable dish at the next meal and devour its contents. Oh, no. He has discovered that by refusing spinach he is pointed out to the calling guest. It is his wedge into the limelight.

It is far better to let small lapses pass uncommented upon than to harass them to the point where your child will do them again for the sake of being noticed. Our tiny girl greatly displeased one day because the dog would not submit to being dressed in doll clothes, astounded her grandmother and me by crying vehemently, "Buddy you're th' dahmest dog!" I looked inquiring at her grandmother, and she looked somewhat suspiciously at me, but we made no comment upon the exclamation. Once again the small girl used the word, then promptly forgot or discarded it. If we had cried out in horror, then pressed upon her mind that she had said something extraordinary, there would have been intense satisfaction in startling us with it again. I know that there are some misdemeanors which must be checked instantly upon their first appearance, but be sure when you do stop them with authority that you put something GOOD in their place. Then let the matter drop.

Take it for granted that your child is going to be a good child—and by "good" I do not mean inactive, or one who never makes a noise, but one on whom you count for doing the square thing, the decent thing by his companions and his parents. Teach him what he CAN do, and forget to say "don't."

THE DAILY DIZZY

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

HOW many women can a man love? asks the Philosopher.

"How many women ARE there?" retorts the Cynic.

One hundred men and one hundred women have confessed to 1358 loves among them, according to "cold statistics on warm emotions" recently acquired through a questionnaire.

* * *

That gives them almost seven loves apiece. Lucky lovers. Miracle workers! Prize self-deceivers.

One real love in a lifetime is all that you or I or the averiage man and woman can honestly claim. And we are highly fortunate if we can manage to hold onto that! We are seldom able to bank all our hopes on a second romance. We can't scrape together enough illusions!

Of course there are lots of little throbs and thrills and tame alarms in everybody's life that we CALL love and would pass for something just as good! But one summer usually takes all the color out of these and wears off all their tinsel.

Every man remembers his puppy infatuation—that sweet, shy, inarticulate, glamorous thrill he felt for some little girl with extra long curls or a twinkling smile. His first unselfish emotion!

* * *

And there is his idealistic love, usually for a woman twice his age, which is one-quarter vivid admiration for her worldly wisdom and three-quarters his yearning to be mothered.

And later there comes what he fancies is his Grande Passion—his tempestuous dalliance for a chorus girl or a dazzling divorcee or a professional vamp—ANY woman, so it is the "wrong woman"—the dizzy infatuation that makes his head whirl, and leaves him with a painful emotional hangover.

* * *

And a man's little loves are part of his emotional education, provided he does not mix them or cheapen them. The heart as well as the mind and body needs exercise or it is apt to grow flabby and stagnate. It takes a little heartbreaking, now and then, to keep up the glow of life.

* * *

But when you find the One Real Love, you know at once that all the others were just little curtain raisers. And four out of five were false alarms!

* * *

Seven loves in a lifetime? Not even Don Juan could boast that many!

HAS FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD GIVEN UP?

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor

Boston Stock Exchange members and their patrons are very interested in the question "Has the Federal Reserve Board given up its attempt to lower brokers' loans?" W. C. Durant, former Boston "Wizard," sailing for Europe, and declaring himself for Herbert Hoover, is quoted definitely as saying the

W. C. DERANT

Reserve Board "has abandoned its attempt." Some of the financial writers do not agree with Mr. Durant, but this biggest stock market operator of all time, as measured by profits at all times, is respected by and in the past.

The portrait of Mr. Durant appearing herewith is reminiscent from a painting just completed by Ezra Amos, famous Hungarian artist, on model of the "Body Snatcher." You would be hard put to tell from the photographs of notable men as collected in a modern newspaper office over a decade or two how they have shown to age rapidly under the strain of modern life, while others retain their youth to a really remarkable degree. Mr. Durant belongs to the latter class. Whether the strains to which he has been subjected was the most severe one during his period of greatness is debatable.

While Mr. Durant was in the hospital, he had telephones installed for his use in his private bed, so closely is home with Wall Street, and private home, as it is sure to become on the completion of the Durant estate at Detroit, which is now under way. Mr. Durant has also installed a ticker service in his Wall Street offices, and is reported to have turned over in Paris a few weeks ago a profit of $1,000,000 in this country. He amassed the Durant fortune in small amounts of hundreds of thousands of dollars in daily trading, which now exceeds $100,000,000.

Another "native" Bostonian, Charles E. Wesson, president of the great Southern Pacific railroad system, which has announced that the Federal Reserve Board has been "fooled" by the giant bear market which has developed since Hoover was elected. Wesson is reported to have said: "I am not in the least worried by the present situation. I have no doubt that the market will go much higher before it goes much lower. I am very much low-minded myself, but I am not worried now. I think we are going through a period of readjustment."

Chas. E. Mitchell

George H. Corliss, advertising manager of the S. A. Woods Machine Co., tells me that the recent issue of The Penny Paper with interesting "Aunt Chat," Alfred Charles Dower had to say about "Lindy" and "Miss Peaceful Aviation," Capt. Dexter Jones on "Safe Aviation," and Miss Ruth Nichols on lures and arousing future for commercial aviation, because Miss Nichols is going to do much more than the present. The article was very ably answered by Comdr. Richard E. Byrd, U. S. N., and while Commander Byrd's views in some interesting, he is not going to keep mum until I doubt if either can see the great part the airplane is destined to play in the not easily become a menace of the most dangerous description."

Who caused abolition of the practice, very harmful to New England since the days of dragging together Missouri and Illinois in giving figures on shoe production? This mark it appears that the latter's rests was losing her leadership. We West Coast. Alfred Charles Dower had to say about "Lindy" and "Miss Peaceful Aviation," Capt. Dexter Jones on "Safe Aviation," and Miss Ruth Nichols on lures and arousing future for commercial aviation, because Miss Nichols is going to do much more than the present. * * *

"Speaking of the air mail, in this country what must happen to the merchant or manufacturer who will stick to the old method of dragging his train-transported mail if his more progressive competitors are reaching shipments in almost half the time? Instance 12, 24, 36 and 48 hours or more ahead of him? This is the problem that must be faced and met or else the trade of events will provide the same result. It is difficult to see how that answer can be a pleasant one to those who ignore its challenge and menace.

"So far as commercial aviation is concerned the arguments and conclusions of Capt. Alfred Charles Dower fail to convince. I do think, however, the '25 hop' is due for an awful kicking financially, but not so commercial aviation.

* * *

"In this day of small stocks, quick turnover, much service and little profit, competition, becoming more and more intense from a variety of causes, is taking on additional aggressiveness through the introduction of an old element in a new form—the element of time—and it is not at all difficult to see wherein this new equation developing through the introduction and ever-increasing use [illegible] of Air Mail and Commercial Aviation may easily become the most important, the most significant, and the most helpful of all the factors interfering to modern business. Just as the failure to give it the consideration it merits can easily become a menace of the most dangerous description."

PRESIDENTIAL RIVALS ON AIR THIS WEEK

By FRED TOYE
Radio Editor

MAJOR program features on the broadcasting schedule serving New England radio listeners adhere this week largely to lines laid down during the early season. Tonight as on other week-days, WEEI starts off with the Waldorf-Astoria Orchestra at 6, followed by local programs, and at 8, a new New York feature, "Around the Piano." Next come A. & P. Gypsies, General Motors, Cabin Door, and 21 Tango Romantico. WNAC gives us a repeat performance of "Pagliacci," and popular music by the Captivators. From WBZA can be heard the three R's, Roxy, Riverside Trailblazers, and Real Folks. Listeners till miss the Goldman Band concerts.

HOOVER ON WESTERN STATIONS

TUESDAY'S chain programs start with the Waldorf-Astoria Orchestra at 6 from WEEI, followed by Socony-land, Sebering, Everready and Clicquot features. WNAC has Paul Palina, followed by Hank Simmons' Show Boat playing "Ships in the Night." WBZA broadcasts Constitutional High Sports and the Lewisohn Stadium Concert. Herbert Hoover's homecoming to West Branch, Iowa, will be picked up by a number of Western and Midwest stations, including WLW at 9 o'clock. This should be easily brought in on WLW's short wave.

DEMOCRATIC NOTIFICATION

GOVERNOR Alfred E. Smith's acceptance speech will occupy the attention of all three stations at 7:30 Wednesday evening. The National Mixed Quartet, Ipana Troubadours and Palmolive Hour also will be features of WEEI listeners during the remainder of the evening. Four Columbia programs come out of WNAC, including a new feature entitled "Dedication," followed by the United Military Band, "The Grand Duchess" operetta by the Kolster Radio singers, and the Buccaneers back from a vacation to bring their tuneful piratical ways. WBZA offers George Hall's orchestra and the Pilgrim Hour featuring the operetta "The Enchantress."

A BUSY EVENING

THURSDAY brings the River Choristers, Cowboy Comfort Hour, Hoover Sentinels, Major and Minor Boys and Halsey Stuart Hour to WEEI. The U. S. Navy Band, Re-Told Tales, Jack Albin's Orchestra, Maxwell House Concert, Michelin and Fitz Soldiers programs give WBZA a busy evening.

STANDBYS

CITIES SERVICE, An Evening in Paris, and a National Concert Bureau program come through WEEI on Friday night. The Story Hour, Kodak Front Porch, and Atwell Concert Orchestra round out the Columbia time on WNAC. Gold Spot Pals, Dixie Circus, Wrigley's Spearmen and Happiness Candy Stove Orchestra. Carlson Sextet provide a song and enjoyable evening's entertainment on WBZA's wavelength.

SYMPHONY

THE WEEK ends with a Lewisohn Stadium symphony concert to be heard through WEEI on Saturday, followed after a space by the Keystone Hour. In the afternoon WBZA will carry the RCA Demonstration Hour, and in the evening Lew White's organ recital and an accordion quartet.

Cuban President Ill

Other organizations, whose officers have accepted invitations to see this fascinating picture, which was taken in several of the 23 Hearst newspaper plants, include Boston College of Business Administration, Y. D. Club, Crosscup-Pishon Post, American Legion; Massachusetts League of Women Voters, Boston Rotary Club, Boston City Club, Girls' City Clubs of Boston, Boy Scouts of America, Boston Swimming Association, Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts, Boston Y. W. C. A., Squaw and Compass Club and International Institute of Y. W. C. A.

The officers of all these 18 organizations are enthusiastic over the prospect of their members witnessing this novel picture, which as its title indicates, shows how a modern newspaper from the inception of the news to its sale on the street in the finished paper.

BACKGROUND OF PICTURE

The background of "The Making of a Newspaper" is the sinking of the British liner Empress of Ireland in 1914, in a terrific storm, and rescue of the crew by the crew of the steamship Storstad. Some of the International Newsreel movies of this epic of the sea, taken at the beginning of the picture, thrill the spectator.

What happens in a Hearst newspaper office when the "flash" on this big story comes is pictured—how the story is hurriedly written, how the headline is dashed off, how the photographs of the rescue are reproduced by scores of the fine illustrations are made in the engraving room from these photographs, how the story is "set up" in the composing room, of the manner in which the plates are moulded into the stereotype room, and finally, of the way in which the papers are run through the presses at high speed to appear in the average person may have thus seen it in news.

THRILLING FILM

There isn't a dull moment in the film. It is thrilling. It is absorbing. It is fascinating. When you leave Lovett's Blue Hill Theater after witnessing it you'll be glad you went. Next time you spend two cents for a newspaper you'll think of the days of the linotype and hard work that made it possible.

William Randolph Hearst, owner of the largest chain of newspapers in the world, is the artist, and whose column "Today" is more widely read than any other feature in any newspaper, and the artistic, yet strong the Hearst paper "funnies," are shown in closeups. Mr. Hearst is shown at his California ranch, the others at their desks busily engaged in daily tasks.

Mr. Monk's Strange Notion

Be Would Assess the HONEST Motorist for the Fraudulent Claims Paid Out of Court by Insurance Companies

Because, it is alleged, certain lawyers and doctors and automobile owners have developed a method of co-operation by means of which large sums of money are fraudulently collected from liability insurance companies, these companies and the Insurance Commissioner of Massachusetts would get the money back from HONEST automobilists.

This, as we understand it, is Commissioner Monk's explanation of and excuse for the recently promulgated rates for the year 1929.

To state the proposition thus baldly, in our opinion, should be enough to defeat it.

If the facts are as they have been stated by the Insurance Commissioner, who quite evidently, and perhaps naturally, gets them from the insurance companies, why have there been no prosecutions? Why has there been no complaint to the Bar Association? What are district attorneys doing about it?

With the number of fatalities in Massachusetts showing no increase from year to year—because drivers are more careful and the authorities more alert—we are asked to believe that the number of accidents is increasing.

Between January 1, 1927, and March 31, 1928, Commissioner Monk reports the companies collected $16,806,327 in premiums and paid out $13,346,339 in losses. The balance of $3,460,038 represents the cost of administration, selling and "OTHER EXPENSES INCLUDING PROFITS."

It will be remembered that the Gas Tax Law, which becomes effective on January 1, caries provision for a new schedule of registration charges.

These registration fees are to be reduced 70 per cent.

Until all the facts concerning insurance costs and insurance "frauds" are made bare the HONEST motorist—whom the insurance companies would soak because there are crooked lawyers, mercenary doctors and scheming motorists—must be excused if he scents a possible connection between the cut in registration fees and the proposed BOOST in insurance rates.

It won't do, gentlemen.

Hands Clean?

Mothers MUST Be Strict

Infantile paralysis is about and if young John and his sister would keep their home free of it—or at least contribute to Mother's peace of mind—they will insist upon having their hands and faces carefully washed (1) before taking any food and (2) before going to bed.

While the situation with reference to the scourge of childhood is not such as to cause alarm the season is here when mothers of young children "dread" to take up the daily newspaper.

One can appreciate the horror parents have of this affliction when he is told of its accountabieness for more than half of all crippled children.

Pre-eminently a disease of little folk, poliomyelitis is by no means rare in adults. The less urban the community the higher the average age of those afflicted. Of more than 100 cases in the city of Haverhill last year one was that of a man of 32 and another a woman of 40.

In Massachusetts we have had this year no visitation comparable to Haverhill's experience, although several cases have been reported in and around Watertown. In New York, more than 200 cases have been reported, or twice as many as last year. From a circular issued by the Department of Health of that city we take the following advice to parents:

Keep your house or apartment absolutely clean.

Go over all woodwork daily with a damp cloth.

Sweep floors only after they have been sprinkled with sawdust, old tea leaves or bits of newspapers which have been thoroughly dampened. Never allow dry sweeping.

Screen your windows against flies, and kill all flies in the house.

Do not allow garbage to accumulate, and keep pail closely covered.

Kill all forms of vermin, such as bedbugs and roaches.

Pay especial attention to body cleanliness. Give the children a bath every day and see that the clothing which comes in contact with the body is clean.

Keep your children by themselves as much as possible.

Remember that children need fresh air in the summer time, and outdoor life is one of the best ways to avoid disease.

If there is a public shower-bath in a school in your vicinity, send the other children there every day for a shower bath. This is perfectly safe and will help them in good health.

Give the children plain, wholesome food including plenty of milk and vegetables.

Keep the milk clean, covered and cold.

Do not allow the milk or any other food to be exposed where flies may alight on it.

Wash well all food that is to be eaten raw.

The CAUSE of the disease has not been determined. It is due to some obscure and unknown micro-organism which has not yet been identified and isolated. The means by which it is communicated is no more certainly established.

Immunity seems to result from one attack. Blood serum extracted from the spinal column of a surviving patient, when injected into a new victim in whom the disease is not too far advanced, has been found to reduce the paralysis. Of one hundred Massachusetts cases last year in which serum was injected during the first three days of the disease, only one died, fifty developed no paralysis whatever and those that did develop paralysis showed less than the average amount.

Most commonly the disease begins with headache, fever, stiffness of the neck and possibly a stomach upset. Often these symptoms are absent. The only change may be that the child may not feel like playing for a day or two before the paralysis is observed.

If your child shows symptoms of irritability or drowsiness, with or without headache and vomiting—does not want to be held or seems in pain when moved—call the family physician.

A Lucky Bird!

By DORMAN H. SMITH

GOOD FORTUNE smiles on some from the moment of their birth, thinks John W. Common People, reading as he runs. Others pick up a little good luck as they pass down life a highway, while a certain chosen few have it thrust upon them whether they will or no. Take Commander Dick Byrd a nd his brave South Pole crew, for instance. Think of all the pests they avoid by hieing away to the Antarctic for two years: No book agents, no jazz artists, no "just-off-the-bost" hootch salesman, no golf bugs, no crowded subways and, best of all, no politics. What's twenty-four months in the sub-zero cold of the South Polar regions when there is freedom from these pet hates? Lucky Byrd!

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up and to call on Henry Wales, the newspaper correspondent, and his bride, newly arrived from London, and then to walk with Will Hoge and at 47th st. and Madison ave. we saw a police officer driving an automobile, plainly foxed and abusive.

Home, where there was a messenger reading: "Come on over and eat homemade beast, you were raised poor," and I wondered how that got out. And I went and there were four boyhood friends and we cut up high jinks, nor have I laughed so uproariously in my life.

In the evening to dinner on the St. Regis roof and saw among others Joseph Urban, Clara Belle Walsh, Commander Byrd and Elinore Glyn. And there was a young cait of a girl there who wore a monocle and a watch strapped on her ankle. So home to bed.

STORIES about New York apartment parties are often wildly colored. At one tee ither evening there came a timid, wall-eyed country girl who had the expression of one expecting to be horse-whipped and perhaps have her clothes burned up. It was her second day in the city from a whistle stop in Wisconsin. The evening was spent playing anagrams, listening to piano selections and a discussion of recent books. Upon departing someone heard her inquire: "Where were all the gin and hell?"

GIN-LESS parties are really everyday affairs in the metropolis. A visiting Englishman declares he is offered more to drink at an ordinary luncheon in London than he was at a two weeks' round of parties in New York.

CELEBRITIES are victims of strange telephone communications. There is a type of New Yorker who knows everybody and to prove it among cronies will call up some famous person and act as though he was on terms of familiar intimacy. No matter what the bewildered celebrity will say, the impression is given at the other end of the phone of talking to a pal. Of course, they never met.

THE same tactics are frequently employed in public places where a celebrity will find himself suddenly receiving a vigorous handshaking by someone he never saw before in his life. He naturally assumes it is one whose face he has forgotten and responds with a cordiality that is just what the tour-flusher desires.

EXCLUSIVE apartment houses in aristocratic areas now make it more difficult than ever to become tenants. When a man or woman asks to sign a lease, they are kept on the waiting list two months. During that period their lives are raked with a fine tooth comb by skilled investigators. An unpaid debt of long ago, an unsavory forgotten affair with a lady or any other peccadillo will make them undesirable. Heavy investors in luxurious apartment houses have found one doubtful tenant can impair not only the respectability but the financial revenue of a building. One man recently refused tenancy found the stockholders discovered he was mixed up in a drunken cafe brawl 15 years ago although he has been a teetotaler for 10 years.

SUCH precautions are not too great. New York is filled with magnificent apartments despoiled by undesirable tenants. Once a building receives a bad name it is like the proverbial dog. It becomes necessary to lower rents and admit all comers.

HOTELS are different. They can be the scene of high scandals and the public is tolerant. They seem to think such things may be accidental in hotels but not in apartment houses.

CROSSING in the traffic maelstrom at Times sq. this noon I stopped to gaze heavenward at some aircraft. "Stay there and you won't be with us long," bawled a crossing cop. I merely opened my large, sad, blue eyes at him and moved on.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I USED to be a fusser.

I was always twittering and bickering and squabbling and quarreling and pranoing and bellowing and heefing about something or other. Trying to run people. Trying to understand life. Trying to get my ideas across to God. Hurrying madly to put my stiff across in time.

Then for four years I lived in the wilderness, with nobody to keep me company but a flock of mad. There were no people to manage in that wilderness. There were no committees to organize, or evils to reform. There were no radios or victrolas or soap-box orators or other human hullabaloos. There was only silence and the hills. And the night—and the day. And the clear call of a bird at dawn and twilight.

Think of setting a chronic fusser down in the middle of that!

But there I was. And I certainly was plenty sorry for it! Else for quite some while.

But after I had thought about myself until I was good and sick of the subject, I began to notice the hills.

The hills that had been sitting there so quiet while I was turning cart wheels.

They were very old hills.

They had been through a great deal.

They had spent millions of years under the ocean.

Then they had been upheaved with terrific violence into the light.

And for another million years they had lain there steeping in the summer light, crouching under the driving winter storms.

They had known darkness and dawn, and drought and flood and frost and blistering sun. And they had known infinite change.

All these processes through which they had passed had worked their changes upon them. The scars were there, on their sides. A geologist could read those scars as you and I can read a book.

Those silent, hiding hills had passed through tremendous things. But whatever the tumult that fell upon them, they had survived, had been quiet. And within that quietness they had lived beautifully and generously.

They had brought forth rich grass and delicate little flowers and tall trees. They had brought forth food and beauty and strength and loveliness. They had done big things in spite of their quietness.

And presently I perceived that they had done big things because of their quietness.

They had done big things because they had not wasted their strength in doing little things.

They hadn't fussed.

They had given themselves up to life, patiently, proudly, and life had made them great and abundant.

They were serene—those hills—and sure—and stored with treasure. And they had been that way through the vicissitudes of a million years. While I had been raising Cain continuously for my four feeble years. And what had I produced. Try to find it!

I learned a lot from those hills.

CHILD IS A PROBLEM IN THE SUMMER

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE child presents a problem in summer even more than in winter.

During the winter he is at school most of the day under charge of the school teacher, and the parents are concerned with him only for the morning and evening. In the summer time he is at home all day.

Emerson says that the child learns more from the book under the desk than from the book over the desk, which is another way of saying that a child learns more by play than in any other way.

In some schools there are teachers on the playgrounds to direct and to co-operate with the child's play.

Nowadays parents send their children to summer camps. In these camps play predominates, but there is careful supervision.

But many families cannot afford to send their children to these camps.

Something ought to be done for the city children who perforce must play in the streets. The Child Study Association of America has tackled this problem. Nineteen summer play schools were opened in New York in July under its direction. Children are given through these schools a program. The city of New York is constantly widening its activity in this respect.

While the kind of work that a child does in summer must differ radically from the kind of work he does in winter, more stress being laid on play, at the same time he ought always to be subject to discipline. Hand work, music, and home-making are more suitable in summer. Gardening can also be taught. Then there's play, which also is subject to certain rules in order to get the most fun out of it and to have it do the most good.

When one has a child he takes on a 24-hour-a-day job and a task that lasts 365 days in a year. It is a labor of love, of course, but just the same it is a kind of work to which we should apply all the intelligence we possess. It is not labor lost, for in addition to the good it does a child it always helps adults in a hundred subtle ways to keep in contact with children.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

BLUE sky above, blue sea below,
And little, eager waves that go
With laughter up the shining beach,
then scamper backward, out of reach.
Wind, clouds and seagulls, all at play, the beach is making holiday.

A frolic wind of madcap mirth has seized upon once-solemn earth, blue waves toss shells along the shore then swiftly snatch them back once more. Far out, the porpoise splash at play; they, too, are making holiday.

Blue sky above, blue sea below and fragrant, vagrant winds that blow to greet glad tots, with pail and spade, to welcome swimmers, youth and maid. Who can resist such love today, when sky and sea make holiday?
